Charges Set Against 2 In Jail Escape

Nab Hancock Pair At Moundsville After 39 Hours Of Liberty

Swift Grand Jury action awaits two Weirton men who escaped from the Hancock County Jail in New Cumberland early Friday morning, but enjoyed only 39 hours of freedom before being nabbed Saturday night near Moundsville.

When the Grand Jury convenes tomorrow morning at 10, it will consider charges of felonious assault and jail-breaking against Walter Cox Steiner Jr., 19, and Robert Thomas Williams, 29. In addition, the two escapees face auto theft charges after making a get-away in the truck of a Georgetown man parked at the Weirton Steel Co. lot.

Prosecuting Attorney Frank A. Pietranton will ask felonious assault indictments against the pair for the attack on deputy William B. King Jr., who was hospitalized with a severe cut on the head during the escape.

King, alone in the jail at the time of the escape Friday morning at 4:20, was struck on the head with a piece of steel bar pried loose from the cell of the two Weirton men.

He remains in "fair" condition today at the Weirton General Hospital and is expected to be back on duty Tuesday, the sheriff's office said.

Steiner and Williams are lodged in New Cumberland Jail today after being transported to Hancock County Sunday by West Virginia State Police from Weirton and county sheriff's deputies who traveled to Moundsville upon hearing of their captures.

The two fugitives made their escape by sawing one of the bars from the jail's bullpen, where they were lodged. They hid in wait in an ante-room between the jailer's room and the cell until King appeared in response to a buzzer which is used for signaling sick-calls of prisoners.

After fleeing from the area of the sheriff's office, the pair took refuge in a nearby wooded section in New Cumberland during the daylight hours. At darkness, they walked south along a railroad spur and stole a pickup truck of Ray Hershburger of Georgetown from the Weirton Steel Co.

The two spent several hours sleeping after driving into the countryside in back of Weirton and Saturday morning continued south in the stolen truck.

State police spotted the pair driving along Route 250 near Lime-stone in Marshall County Saturday night and promptly ended their brief freedom.

Williams also faces four charges of breaking and entering of Weirton business establishments by the September term of the Grand Jury.

The younger of the two escapees was held in jail for being AWOL from a Naval base at Key West, Fla.

The sheriff's office said Weirton police are pressing charges of auto theft.

It was also reported that several prisoners who had planned to make the get-away with Williams and Steiner and later backed out would be punished for helping in the escape.

Two Of Three Still Hunted In Kidnaping

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—A posse searched the nearby Litchfield area today for two of three young men who abducted a Mansfield couple at gunpoint. One of the trio was captured.

Marion Porch and his wife, Edyth, of Mansfield were released in a country lane about eight miles northeast of that city early today after the three took $18 from Porch. They were not hurt.

The Porches' new car which was driven off by the abductors was found abandoned near Litchfield. The highway patrol captured one of the three men. He said he is Lodell Thweatt, 19, of Los Angeles and Shelby, Ohio.

More than 30 policemen and a state patrol plane took part in the search. Highways in the Litchfield area were sealed off by road blocks.

A patrolman collared the one man as he climbed out of a ditch. "I would have shot him but I dropped my gun," the prisoner said later.

A .32 caliber pistol was found in the ditch.

The prisoner said he was wanted in California and New Mexico and told patrolmen:

"If you were as hot as I am, you'd be running too."

He said he met the other two men while traveling east from California.

The three young men forced their way into the Porch home

Neff Charges Against 2 Due Court Hearing

Beaver Judge To Act On Motion To Quash Libel Accusations

A hearing has been set Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. in Beaver County Court at Beaver on a petition to quash criminal libel charges against Pennsylvania Auditor General Charles C. Smith and J. Alexander Jacobs, his deputy, on grounds of official immunity and privilege.

Charges were filed by Samuel G. Neff, who was recently fired from his job as head of the State's Workingmen's Insurance Fund after a report by the auditor's office on state highway department "kickbacks" in Beaver County. Ralph Temples, managing editor of the Beaver Valley Times, also is charged with criminal libel by Neff.

The auditor general's office wanted the hearing set in two weeks but District Atty. Richard P. Steward and the law firm of Hudacek and Lewis of Beaver Falls, attorneys for Neff, objected since they wanted all cases involving Neff to go before the Grand Jury which convened today.

Neff and four others will face the Grand Jury sometime this week on charges of extortion and conspiracy to commit extortion through collection of alleged kickbacks from Beaver County contractors who leased equipment to the highway department.

The four others are Robert Yoho, James Macry, Leon Koleta and Edward Nitsche.

R. A. Shoup of South Heights, near Aliquippa, was named today by Judge Robert McCreary as foreman of the 20-member Grand Jury. Mrs. Amelia Neish of Center Township, mother of Clarence Neish, an assistant district attorney.

Man Escapes Officers; Halts For Warning Shot

A Lisbon area man broke loose from Wellsville police Saturday night as he was being locked up in jail for drunken driving, but he only ran about a block before being caught again.

A warning shot was fired in the air by one of the two officers who were chasing Earl Mitchell of Lisbon R. D. 1. Mitchell was arrested on Main St. at 9:25 p. m.

As the officers were putting him in jail, using the side entrance on 5th St., Mitchell broke loose and started running. He darted out Main St., crossed over near the traffic light and started toward the upper end of town.

The warning shot was fired as he started across Main. Mitchell will receive a hearing before Mayor William J. Shoup on charges of drunk driving and attempting to escape from an officer.

Bar's Meeting Observes New Term In Court

Grand Jurors Await Beginning Of Probe On 4 Cases Tuesday

A noon dinner of the Columbiana County Bar Association today at the Lisbon First Presbyterian Church was to officially open the September term of Common Pleas Court.

The start of the fall term was to be announced by Judge Joel H. Sharp of Salem. The bar group slated a business meeting later this afternoon at the Courthouse. A 15-member Grand Jury will be selected Tuesday morning from the venire of 50 to report for the court term. The Grand Jury will visit the County Jail and in the afternoon is slated to start hearing witnesses as its studies begin. Eight witnesses are to testify tomorrow in four of the some 36 criminal cases to be studied by the panel.

Six more cases have been added to the 30 announced last week. Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said this morning. They include one of shooting with intent to kill, three forgery charges and two sodomy offenses. Brokaw said a couple more are to be filed this week.

With the new cases, the prosecutor indicated the panel will not complete its work this week.

Cases to be studied tomorrow are: Armed robbery of Henry Poage, 219 S. Market St., Lisbon, on April 29 by Donald Eakle, 18, of Carrollton R. D. 1, Noah Bogges, 20, of Amsterdam R. D. 1, Jennings Eakle, 29, of Carrollton R. D. 1 and Roy Elliott, 18, of near Amsterdam.

Final Plans Checked On Khrushchev

Eisenhower Goes Over Agenda With His Policy Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower summoned his top foreign policy advisers to the White House today to check over final plans for his historic talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The stocky, voluble Communist chieftain, packing the prestige of a new space triumph in the Soviets' weekend moonstrike, arrives Tuesday. He will get a red carpet, 21-gun reception and the protection of the toughest security measures ever taken in this country for a foreign visitor.

While American scientists congratulated the U.S.S.R. on its apparent spectacular success in landing a space capsule on the moon, official Washington seemed unperturbed. The space shot was clearly timed to glorify Soviet scientific and industrial prowess for Khrushchev on the eve of his American trip.

Nevertheless this new first for Soviet science in the space race seemed certain to get some attention in Eisenhower's meeting with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Under Secretary Douglas Dillon on plans and preparations for Khrushchev's visit.

Meanwhile members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were working on their own preparations for entertaining Khrushchev at an hour-long tea party Wednesday afternoon. They want to find out "what kind of man he is," said Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), and they want to ask him some tough questions about Soviet behavior in world affairs.

Eisenhower himself is expected to tell his visitor that the use or threat of force around the boundaries of the Communist bloc — most recently against India and Laos—is the major cause of tension and war fears in the world.

The President expects at least half a dozen major problems to be covered in the talks he and Khrushchev will hold here Tuesday afternoon and late next week, following the Soviet premier's return from a tour around the country. The problems include disarmament, Berlin and the future of Germany, and the situation in the Far East.

One difference between the Soviet and American approaches has already appeared. Soviet propaganda for several days now has been building up great expectations of achievement from the meetings. American officials have been playing down hopes of major accomplishments.

Asst. Secretary of State Francis O. Wilcox cautioned Sunday night in a New York speech that while he was not pessimistic about Khrushchev's visit "no one ought to look for miracles."

Dixonville Man Denies Tavern Burglary Count

LISBON — Norman L. Ferguson, 27, of Dixonville pleaded not guilty to breaking and entering of the Bar X Tavern on the Y. & O. Rd. at Rock Camp at a preliminary hearing Saturday afternoon before County Judge James L. McDonald. Another hearing will be held this afternoon. Bond was set at $1,000.

Dale E. Musser, 22, of Newton Falls, Ferguson's cousin, pleaded guilty to the same offense and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond. Both were surprised early Saturday morning by Claude and Betty Williams, owners of the tavern, after Musser had forced his way into the building, deputies said. Ferguson stood watch outside and pretended that Musser's car was disabled, they said.

Neither man was armed, but two black poplin masks were found in the car. Both are in County Jail in lieu of bond.

State Highway Patrol investigators are scheduled to question the two about a recent armed robbery of the Ohio Turnpike entrance near North Lima.

It's Up To Southern Bloc

Congress May Quit Today If Civil Rights Fight Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress edges its way toward possible adjournment today with friends and foes already appraising its legislative record.

If Southern opponents halt their attack on a rider extending the life of the Civil Rights Commission, the Senate may be able to complete action on a $3,281,813,000 foreign aid bill it approved in substance Saturday.

But there was no terminal hour on the Dixie verbal onslaught against the commission, nor on the potential counter-threat that Northerners might push for stronger civil rights legislation this year.

The House, standing by, was ready for efforts to compromise the bill with its own $3,186,500,000 version of overseas assistance. Once this was done the weary legislators could go home.

Money items for foreign aid and for miscellaneous unrelated items already have been tentatively decided by the Senate. It rejected Saturday night all efforts to change the appropriations recommended by its committee.

But before a final vote on the bill could be taken, the Senate had to dispose of the civil rights question. The battle started Saturday night, but was temporarily terminated by a recess early Sunday.

Southern senators were determined to get into the record their opposition to a series of recommendations made by the Civil Rights Commission in a report last week. Unless its life is extended, the commission goes out of existence Nov. 9.

Proponents of stronger civil rights legislation were seeking as

Bill To Guide Labor Unions Becomes Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law the bill regulating internal affairs of labor unions and limiting their boycott and picketing activities.

The measure, a landmark of the 1959 session of Congress, represents one of Eisenhower's most important legislative triumphs. It contains Taft-Hartley law amendments he insisted were essential to any effective bill.

The new law is designed to curb racketeering and other abuses in some unions spotlighted in congressional investigations. The law also puts new restrictions on organizational picketing by unions and on secondary boycotts.

A secondary boycott is one directed at an employer with whom the union has no direct quarrel.

The AFL-CIO contends these Taft-Hartley changes will weaken labor's legitimate economic powers. Employers argue that the boycott and picketing weapons were abused by the Teamsters and some other unions. The measure was strongly opposed by organized labor in its final form.

The act contains the most far-reaching of the nation's labor-management relations law since the Taft-Hartley law was passed in 1947.

Reds Lose Election

SAN MARINO (AP)—The Christian Democrats and their Democratic Socialist allies held control of San Marino's legislature today, beating the Communists in an election for the first time since World War II. This 1,600-year-old 38 square-mile republic held elections Sunday.

Feat Gives Backdrop To Khrushchev

Americans Among Those Who Praise Soviet Achievement

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev is flying to Washington Tuesday amid worldwide acclaim for the Soviet feat of landing a rocket on the moon.

Congratulations streamed in today from the six continents for this development in the conquest of space.

American scientists were among the first to hail the handling of the 860-pound lunar probe as a remarkable job of scientific reckoning and marksmanship.

The official reaction of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration was summed up in Washington by its deputy administrator, Dr. Hugh Dryden.

"We have followed with interest the travel of the Soviet lunar probe to its impact with the moon," Dryden said.

"We wish to congratulate our fellow scientists and engineers on their success in this forward step in the exploration of space."

"We hope that the scientific data obtained in this flight will soon be available for study by the scientists of all countries."

The Soviet news agency Tass picked up a British story quoting Heinz Kaminsky, director of the Bochum Observatory in the Ruhr, as saying the feat could be compared to a rifleman hitting the eye of a fly at a distance of six miles.

Radio Budapest said Hungarian scientists spotted a dust cloud raised on the moon when the rocket landed at 12:02 a.m. A black ring was visible for more than an hour after the probe's radio signals stopped on impact, it said, and the scientists expressed belief this outlined a new crater cut into the sand and rock of the moon's surface.

From Britain's major space tracking station, Prof. A. J. Lovell, director of the huge radio telescope at Jodrell Bank, said: "At the moment of impact the telescope was accurately positioned in the direction of the moon and there is no reason to doubt that the Lunik capsule made impact on the lunar surface."

A leading Soviet astronomer said today the next step in the preparation for landing people on the moon is to set up a robot observatory there.

Aleksandr Mikhailov, director of the Pulkovo Astronomical Observatory was heard in London over Moscow radio.

There was no immediate reaction from President Eisenhower.

But Saturday, after the Soviets announced the launching of their newest moon rocket, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said: "It has been known for some time that both the Soviets and the United States have had the capability for such shots, and this comes as no surprise."

The Russians were clearly delighted about the success of this effort in the enhancement of Soviet prestige as Khrushchev prepared to start his exchange of visits with President Eisenhower.

The Soviets did not disclose the exact time or site of the rocket launching, but newsmen estimated that it took off sometime early Saturday. They reckoned the capsule soared 236,160 miles to the moon in about 35 hours.

The rocket carried pennants bearing the Soviet hammer-and-sickle emblem and an inscription "Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, September 1959."

The Soviet news agency Tass said special measures had been taken to make sure the pennants bearing the emblem remained in Clem L. Dawson, who retired two years ago as assistant fire chief after being stricken with a heart attack while on duty at Central Station, died suddenly Sunday afternoon of another seizure. He was 62.

Dawson was stricken in the Elks Club on W. 5th St. late yesterday afternoon. Firemen administered oxygen to the former assistant chief and firefighter and he was taken to City Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 4:37 p. m.

He was appointed a captain Jan. 1, 1930, following a Civil Service examination. However, the post was abolished late in 1932 as an economy move and Mr. Dawson returned to the ranks.

In June, 1936, he was one of 19 men furloughed after the city said it had no funds to pay their salaries.

Moon

tact despite the terrific impact of the moon landing.

The dramatic shot, sure to give Khrushchev's visit a sharp prestige boost, marked the first time man has lobbed a missile through space to hit a celestial target.

News of the flight was hailed on both sides of the Iron Curtain as a major scientific achievement.

In Jodrell Bank, England, Prof. Alfred Lovell, in charge of the world's biggest radio telescope, termed the moon rocket "a brilliant demonstration of the advanced state of Russian technology."

It was Jodrell Bank that flashed first word that the Soviets had been successful in their moon shot.

American scientists congratulated the Soviet Union on her feat and expressed hope information gleaned from the rocket would be shared with the world.

But Vice President Richard M. Nixon said official proof was still lacking that the Soviets really hit the moon.

Nixon, interviewed as he landed in New York from Washington, said the Soviet had tried and failed three times in the last two weeks to land a rocket on the moon. Saturday's was the fourth try, he added.

Pravda, official Communist party newspaper, said "the second Soviet space rocket has reaffirmed the leading role of the U.S.S.R. in the highly important spheres of science and technology, in fathoming the mysteries of the universe."

Acclaiming the "latest remarkable successes of the Soviet Union," Pravda added "world public opinion emphasizes the tremendous importance" of Khrushchev's visit to the United States. In Moscow, Soviet citizens stood tensely by their radios as step-by-step reports were broadcast of the trail-blazing flight.

Shortly before midnight, the Moscow radio announcer began

Mr. Dawson was born May 11, 1897, in East Liverpool, the son of Harrison and Eliza Meahaffey Dawson. He attended East Liverpool schools and was a truck driver for the former Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Co. before joining the fire department.

Mr. Dawson resided with his sister, Mrs. Kathryn Bradley, 631 Minerva St.

A veteran of World War I, he was a member of American Legion Post 374, the First Methodist Church and the Elks Lodge.

Besides Mrs. Bradley, he is survived by another sister, Mrs. Harry Rittenhouse of Minerva, and a brother, Sam Dawson of Lisbon.

The body was removed to the Dawson Funeral Home. Arrangements are incomplete.

counting "now just five minutes." "Now three minutes" and finally down to seconds.

Just before midnight, the announcer said, "wait for a special announcement. Listen to Moscow. Listen to Red Square."

At the stroke of midnight the chimes tolled from the Kremlin and the radio began blaring the national anthem.

Minutes after the deadline the radio began broadcasting concert music.

Finally at 12:35 a. m., the music ceased and the historic announcement was made—33 minutes after the rocket's reported landing.

"Attention, Moscow speaking," proclaimed the announcer, then: "Tass—bulletin. Today the 14th of September, at 00:02:24 Moscow time—2 minutes and 24 seconds after midnight—the second Soviet cosmic rocket reached the surface of the moon."

"It was the first time in history that a cosmic flight has been made from the earth to another body."

There was no public sign of rejoicing over the announcement.

Hancock Man Killed By Fall

Hancock County Coroner Dr. George Naymick has ruled as accidental the death of a New Cumberland area farmer whose body was found Sunday partly submerged in a stream at the bottom of a steep cliff.

Wilmer Francis Wylie, 40, of Weirton R. D. 1 apparently slipped on loose gravel and tumbled over a 26-foot precipice on Holbert Run Rd., the coroner said. Death was attributed to a fractured skull and drowning, he added.

The body was discovered Sunday by several children playing in the area.

Born July 14, 1919, in Hancock County, he was a son of the late Warren and Mary Langfitt Wylie. A farmer, he was a veteran of World War II and attended the Point Pleasant Methodist Church.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Theodore Kokochak, and two brothers, Dwight Wylie and Duane Wylie, all of Weirton R. D. 1. Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 at the Stewart & Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland. Burial will be in the Union Cemetery at Pughtown.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

No Reform Without Enforcement

Passage of a stiff labor-reform law in this session of Congress has been a jolt to the unionists who thought and said it couldn't be done.

It has been a shot in the arm for all the people who said it needed to be done, on the other hand. But the mere passage of a stiff law doesn't prove a thing.

The tough part of the labor reform movement, if that's what it is, comes 60 days after the new law's signing, when it goes into effect. That will be the real showdown with opponents like James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union. Even before a new law had been cleared through the conference committee, this most dynamic and most outspoken of the proposal's critics had held a convention of the more than 100 lawyers he had hired to show him how "to live with the law," meaning how to keep it from interfering with his convenience.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell has been prompt to declare he will press for fearless and fair application of the statute, but he knows what every public official in the country knows about the difficulty of enforcing any law against a determined and well-heeled minority. If there had been firm enforcement of all the laws that could have been brought to bear on abuses by unions in the past, there would have been no need for a reform law in 1959.

THERE IS GOING to be a showdown on a proposition that has been used over and over again to confuse the issue of whether or not Congress either could or should pass a stiff reform bill—the oft-reiterated proposition that any stiff law would hurt legitimate unions.

Secretary Mitchell says the new law will bring no harm to legitimate unions, yet some of the loudest protests against the new law are by spokesmen for presumably legitimate unions. This is puzzling on its fact. But behind the surface is this unhappy fact:

All unions, good, medium and bad, have relied on the same practices that were reprehensible when used by bad unions. Many so-called "legitimate" unions have cherished the option of using some of the same practices that have given bad unions a black eye in public opinion.

TO THE EXTENT that these practices were outlawed in the reform bill, all unions could be hurt. Hence, all unions were opposed to the bill, and all unions will be opposed to the law when it goes into effect.

The prospect is that they will be able to afford a couple of lawyers on their side for every lawyer the government can afford to hire.

Congress has passed a stiff law, but the problem now is how to enforce the law it has passed over the opposition of people who did not want any law in the first place and are in no mood to surrender.

No Suspension Of Judgment

Now that Premier Khrushchev actually is about to appear in this country, it will be evident to nearly everybody who sees him that the question is not what we think about him but what we think about ourselves.

No one is being asked to suspend judgment on the strong man of Russia any more than on the strong man of Spain—Francisco Franco. The United States has managed to deal with Franco and his regime far more intimately than it is being asked to deal with Khrushchev and his regime, yet it has not indulged itself overtly in the favorite Yankee sport of delivering harsh judgment at the top of its voice.

To be sure, Franco never has been encouraged to pay a visit to this country but on the other hand his country is not a major power in a position to make or break what passes for peace in a world crammed with mistrust and hatred. If Spain were the Soviet Union and Franco were still its dictator, he undoubtedly would be encouraged to come here if he expressed a wish to see the United States first-hand.

In less than two weeks, Premier Khrushchev and his party will have gone back to Russia. All the Americans who are impelled to pass judgment on them and their ways can do so at the tops of their voices again.

But if these same people insist on doing it while he is here, risking the possibility of an incident that might be serious, they can be sure that when President Eisenhower goes to Russia later this year he will be assailed by harsh words in kind. The Russians aim to abuse Americans as much as Americans abuse them—and this has helped to keep bad feeling alive.

If Americans think enough of themselves to keep their minds open and their mouths shut about their right to manhandle the head of a state they do not agree with there can be no quarrel with their behavior. No one is asking them to respect Khrushchev as an individual. They are asked only to show him courtesy, not respect.

Legislation By The Morse Code

Wayne Lyman Morse, the one-time Republican senator from Oregon who turned Democrat because the Republicans did not appreciate him, will have been on the job 15 years starting in 1960.

He has learned all the tricks of the senatorial trade, as he practices it, which is legislation by Morse Code. This is not as brutal a technique as it used to be when Washington was not air-conditioned. But it is hard on the people's faith, where air-conditioning is no help.

A candidate for an advanced degree in political science might properly do a thesis on this remarkable man. The factual material would be drawn, of course, from the Congressional Record, supplemented by the speeches he has made on numerous occasions outside the Senate chamber.

Color background for this definitive work on the Morse Code of Lawmaking would be drawn from the senator's own explanations of his beliefs as they have appeared in written material and as they might be supplemented by up-to-date interviews.

The point to be proved would be this:

That if this highly educated man is right and the principal function of a senator of the United States is to make a long speech on every occasion, including speeches with no bearing on the topic under discussion, there must be a new theory for representative democracy.

It is not government by deliberation and compromise at all. It is government by elocution, on the theory that some wisdom must reside in language if enough language is put through the process: that it is like panning gold in a creek bed.

Sen. Morse's latest contribution to the art he has perfected was to stall and confuse an already badly confused U. S. Senate which had been unable to finish what should have been done last June.

To the senators and to their brothers in the House of Representatives it is just that much more air-conditioning. To the country at large it is a challenge to keep on believing in representative democracy, despite the Morse Code of Legislation Through Obfuscation.

Swappingest Nation

A fellow waiting for a haircut wanted to know how long it would take a 1949 Chevy to become a valuable antique. He had just bought one for $75, with ultimate profit in mind.

I told him how rapidly I made it and he seemed encouraged — until I lamented that my market value had shrunk to nil in the process. On that note the debate started.

Is it age or scarcity that makes antiques valuable? The consensus was that scarcity is the bigger factor, and they sort of used me as a reverse example. Well, I asked for it.

Things are more valuable when they are scarce and more people want them. There's no scarcity of old codgers, and nobody wants them. By devious and embarrassing elimination, they edged the axion back to automobiles and concluded that by the time the '49 Chevy is antique by age, there'll be so many others that they'll be a dime a dozen.

STORING TODAY'S care for 40 years may be a slow way to make a buck and no guarantee of old age security. But even should the automobile by then be as obsolete as a sound dollar, like as not that '49 Chevy will still be good for the down-payment on a 1999 model space ship—as a second best, just for keeping slumming on Pluto.

So many folks never really get any car paid for that the family bus is like a kid's jackknife: little more than a swapping asset for a different one.

Way back at the top of the list there was a shrewd old Gotrocks or a plunging Few-locks, keeping up with the Joneses, who got first value and shouldered the largest depreciation.

After that the flaming streamlined beauty shuttles among hucksters and bargain-seekers, on its way to the junkyard—plastered with more mortgages and liens than paint; never to have the dignity, affection or value of the few Bearcats, Stanley Steamers and Model Ts, the museum pieces of today.

ONCE the family car had much the status of Old Dobbin, who shouldn't have been swapped for Whirlaway or Man o' War. People loved their cars.

I'd pay 10 times its $850 delivered price for our second car, a little four-cylinder open job, the first gas-driven Studebaker model. It succeeded our first, a Model T. Of scores of makes and models we since have harbored, we loved that little Stude most.

For nearly 50 years we have swapped our way up the horsepower ladder and down the belly-slammer slide. In a David Harum market, that "wished the old nag on a sucker, before she sprung a spavin."

Why this enduring affection for humblest of them all? 'Cause she was the one we sweat blood to buy, went hungry to keep; the first to tote us on those grueling two-week "tours" that we wouldn't take today in a solid gold Cadillac. Them was thrill days.

To us she was our first horseless carriage. We always figured the Model T a sort of "miscarriage." We only owned it two weeks when the "hoss-swapping" bug got us, and kept us broke for years—but gee how happy.

Just like the millions who are swapping their way through life, reaching for the brass ring. And enjoying the merry-go-round immensely.

Where but in America?

The largest lake in the United States which is entirely within the boundaries of one state is Great Salt Lake in Utah. It has an area of 1,500 square miles.

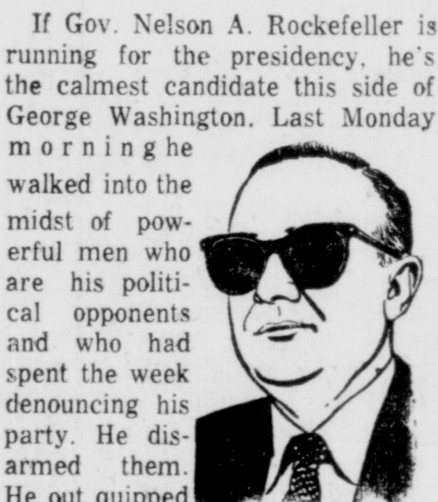

Five of the U. S. presidents were twice married. These were Tyler, Fillmore, Benjamin Harrison, Theodore Roosevelt and Wilson.

Slightly Soiled!

Rockefeller Woos Labor Elements

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

If Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is running for the presidency, he's the calmest candidate this side of George Washington. Last Monday morning he walked into the midst of powerful men who are his political opponents and who had spent the week denouncing his party. He disarmed them. He out-quipped them—including David Dubinsky, the Noel Coward of the needle trades.

Without meaning to, Rockefeller turned the reviewing stand of New York's massive, sometimes angry Labor Day parade into a sunlit stage on which he took the good-natured jibes of some of America's most influential Rooseveltian-New Dealer type union chiefs.

To a few of us caught in the line of good-natured repartee, it was apparent that the New York governor had the friendship of these labor men and that they would never really attack him in their characteristic tip-hammer, class-jargoned fashion.

WHAT HAPPENED on that jammed reviewing stand answered one question: Would the union chiefs turn their backs on the New York Republican governor because his national leader, Dwight D. Eisenhower, had almost personally pushed through (and was about to sign) the toughest labor law in U.S. history?

Rockefeller laughingly took the initiative as the parade started. There were two baby elephants in line ahead of the hundreds of banners and floats which denounced Republican policy.

The governor leaned forward to Dubinsky, standing there in a slogged overseas parader's cap with a needle worker's yardstick in hand.

"Now there's a fine set of symbols," the governor jested, pointing to the Republican-type elephants. "That's nice of you to run this parade for me. Where are the donkeys?"

Just then the 21,000 needle workers' contingent began to file past, veterans of many a New Deal campaign. This reporter remarked that they were the largest group in the parade, coming from the city's largest union. Dubinsky sighed:

"But they didn't listen to me in the last election, did they, governor?" referring to the trouncing Rockefeller had given labor's candidate, Averell Harriman, by half a million votes in the New York State gubernatorial race.

"Ah, but, Dave," said the governor, "you did not talk very loudly."

DUBINSKY LAUGHED. Not often had anyone referred to the fact that labor in New York had not once really attacked Rockefeller in last year's election. Obviously in Nelson Rockefeller the Republicans have a national figure who will not draw labor's wrath.

But he is not alone in the Republican leadership. There is Vice President Dick Nixon. He has his labor friends, too.

Out in the mountaintop needle workers' playground, Unity House, Pa., Dave McDonald, leader of the striking steelworkers, late last month said loudly enough for reporters to hear that he was all through with the Democrats and that he was "sticking with my friend, Dick Nixon."

There was still another friend in court — U.S. Labor Secretary Jim Mitchell. Many talk of him as the logical running mate for Nixon if the Californian gets the nomination.

Last Tuesday morning, it was apparent that Jim Mitchell was determined to prove that the passage of the Landrum - Griffin bill was no sign of a war on labor by the GOP.

THE LABOR SECRETARY briefed President Eisenhower for almost an hour. He told the President that he was set to spend a week with the labor leaders at their national convention site in San Francisco.

While he was with the President, Mitchell's specialists — informed men all — were putting together the material for two of the most difficult speeches the labor secretary ever planned.

The first will be to the AFL-CIO Metal Trades Dept. This will come in the early part of this week.

The second he will deliver on Friday morning at the national AFL-CIO's third biennial convention in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium.

Mitchell's is to be the only major address by an outsider. He is set to speak on the morning of the day set aside by the AFL-CIO to rip into industry in general and the steel executives specifically.

Mitchell has the job of preventing the angry leaders of some 14 million union members from turning their convention into a snorting anti-Republican rally. If he succeeds, he will influence the greatest political year of all—the year of the Democrats' efforts to turn out the Republicans.

Too Hot Or Too Cold

By Thomas Henry

With the practical possibilities of space travel being given serious consideration for the first time, astronomers are paying increasing attention to our near neighbors in space, the other planets in the solar system.

As far as the possibility of man being able to survive on even the best of them—Mars and Venus—their conclusions up to now are not encouraging. Venus is too hot and Mars too cold.

Drs. Carl C. Kiess and K. Lasovszky of Georgetown University, in a study made for the Air Force, report that the surface temperature of Venus, nearest planet to the earth and the closest to it in mass and surface gravity, though lower than previously believed, is probably near the boiling point of water.

Furthermore, the Venusian atmosphere may contain 10,000 times as much carbon dioxide as our own, probably is without oxygen and has little or no water vapor. The Georgetown scientists conclude that, while with planetary evolution, life may develop on Venus, there is small likelihood that there is any there now.

SIMILARLY, they now believe that color changes long observed on the surface of Mars, may not be due to seasonal changes in vegetation, as long thought, but by the shifting patterns of wind-blown volcanic ash. The Martian "canals," they say, may be due to similar causes.

As far as Venus is concerned, temperatures as high as those of a warm January day have been measured at the top of its dense, misty atmosphere.

However, Venus, being closer to the sun, gets visible and ultraviolet radiation in far higher intensity than the earth does. The carbon dioxide-rich Venusian atmosphere is extremely transparent to this radiation but traps the infrared form in which it is reflected. Infrared is heat radiation and the fact that it does not pass through the carbon dioxide blanket accounts in part for the planet's high surface temperature.

However, the atmosphere, perpetually clouded, is a better reflector than is earth's, so that, although the radiant energy reaching it is at least twice that showered upon the earth, proportionately less of it finds its way to the surface.

THE FLAT SURFACE of frigid Mars is responsible for a somewhat different atmospheric circulation pattern than our own, where large mountain masses deflect winds, the Georgetown scientists conclude.

"Because there are no mountains on Mars to deflect them," Drs. Kiess and Lasovszky say, "the northeast trade winds will cross the equator all around the Martian globe and blow toward the southern tropics. There, owing to the planet's rotation, they will be deflected westward."

"The wind carries dark material, accounted for as ash from volcanoes. Many of the details of the surface are accounted for by this mechanism, such as temporary changes in the color and shape of some of the dark areas, the disappearance of some markings and the shift in location."

"The 'canals' of Mars also find an explanation as trails of ashes leading away from the volcanoes and laid down over desert areas when, in the summertime of the northern hemisphere, the southeast trade winds blow toward the equator. Cyclonic storms also will play a role in laying down ash trails, or 'canals.'"

Existence of vegetation is not entirely ruled out by these hypotheses, says the report, but they furnish no support for it. The green color and the seasonal changes can be accounted for by the composition of the volcanic ash and its weathering in the Martian atmosphere.

Don't Be Disappointed

By James Marlow

Nothing Big May Come Of Mr. K's Visit

WASHINGTON
No matter how you feel about Nikita Khrushchev—good or bad—here are some points to keep in mind as he bounces around the country.

Don't take his visit so seriously as to be disappointed if nothing comes of it. To Khrushchev this may be just a prestige and feeling-out expedition, with a free trip and look around on a Soviet expense account.

It is also possible he really wants to lessen tensions. He could, if he wished, lower the world's temperature by making concessions. If he did, he'd want some in return.

Why should he budge an inch? It's easy to think of a number of reasons which tie in together and from his viewpoint make good sense.

He's 65. He wants to see the Soviet Union surpass this country economically. He has said it will. Because years are short, it probably won't happen in his lifetime.

Right now the U.S.S.R. is throwing 40 per cent of its resources into military development. His dream of Soviet economic supremacy would come a lot closer to fulfillment if a bigger share of these resources went into home use.

Since Communists are convinced their system will own the earth eventually, they don't have to keep pushing so hard. They can wait. Khrushchev has implied as much.

With the world divided into two armed camps, capable of a war which no one could win, this is a good time to take out insurance against catastrophe by trying to make war less likely.

War could destroy everything for the Soviets while the U.S.S.R. and communism don't have to depend on war alone in trying to take over the world. There are other means: economic penetration, pressure here and there, and breaking up enemy alliances.

For example: there seems no obvious reason why the Soviet Union should try to capture the West when there are softer touches nearby in the backward countries. The Soviet Union can work on them with aid, propaganda, and internal subversion.

But so long as the U.S.S.R. is surrounded by American bases, as it is now, Soviet ability to maneuver and pressure its neighbors is hampered since an overstep anywhere could result in war.

These bases would be less of a menace and might eventually have to be withdrawn if the Soviet Union could weaken the Western alliance through maneuvering or concessions, starting now in his talks with President Eisenhower.

The suspicion of the U.S.S.R. is too deep in the West for any change in armaments or bases right away. But after all, Khrushchev's trip here may be only the first in a series of moves he has in mind.

For example Eisenhower has pledged he will make no agreements with Khrushchev which affect our allies. Good enough. Khrushchev could make agreements affecting this country alone.

Later—through visits with the heads of the allied governments—he could make agreements which pleased and affected them, even though they affected their alliance.

This isn't said cynically but realistically. The alliance isn't as solid as Western propagandists make it appear. Witness the suspicions and misgivings in Western capitals over the Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting.

A Soviet might well ask: what kind of alliance is this that forces Eisenhower to fly the Atlantic just to reassure his friends he won't do any double-dealing with Khrushchev?

If the alliance shows cracks under the pressure of Khrushchev's salesmanship, the military threat to the Soviet Union from the West decreases. He hasn't been able to do much with threats so far. There's no reason for not trying a softer technique. His visit is a softer technique.

When all this is said, the big unanswered question remains: just what does Khrushchev have in mind in coming here? He may be truly anxious to get a breathing spell for the U.S.S.R. to show he could develop it beyond Stalin's wildest dream.

Communism can, as mentioned before, take its time without ever losing sight of its main goal.

Mr. K's Yardstick

By William L. Ryan

Nikita Khrushchev arrives Tuesday to take a look at the bounding U. S. economy. What will be his yardstick? How will he measure U. S. life against the background of his Russian upbringing? Here is an appraisal of the system Khrushchev leaves behind when he flies to Washington.

Starting Tuesday Nikita Khrushchev will get a first hand idea of what he must do if he is to deliver on those promises he has made to the people of the Soviet Union—to match and overtake the living standards of the United States.

The Communist boss likely will see America through the eyes of one whose life has been ruled by inflexible Marxist-Leninist theories. Probably he will remain convinced the U.S. system inevitably must collapse and that thus the superiority of the American way must be regarded as temporary.

The U.S.S.R. has come a long way, even in the five or so years of the Khrushchev era. Under any system, mighty development would have been certain in these modern times for so naturally rich a land. Its strides in science, technology and military might are well known. But it lags badly behind Western Europe, far behind the United States, in terms of people's material well-being.

A Communist party of 8 million rules the nation's other 200 million, more than half of them Great Russians dominating numerous other races speaking scores of different languages. Khrushchev says this is the world's most democratic system because the party represents all the people and there is no need to choose between leaders. In the West, he adds, workers can choose only between parties intent upon exploiting them.

The system, however, has produced a privileged class. It's extremely difficult to become a Communist in the U.S.S.R. Membership is open only to those the party calls the "politically mature." Party members often have the best jobs, make the most money. A ranking Communist can have a private town apartment, a country dacha or bungalow, an automobile assigned for official or personal use. He often has a chauffeur and other servants. His wife may scorn Moscow dressmakers and have her clothes made in Riga—or even, if she's ultrafashionable, imported from Paris.

Many outside the party have good incomes, too. The class extends to professional people, scientists, writers, industrialists and others.

But about 60 per cent of the labor force—perhaps 55 million—are those the party calls "workers and employees," wholly dependent upon wages and salaries. Of these, eight million were in an extremely low bracket in September, 1957, when a decree fixed the minimum wage of 270 to 250 rubles monthly equal in terms of purchasing power to perhaps $27 to $35.

The average worker now probably earns 800 to 900 rubles monthly, on $80 to $90 in terms of purchasing power. Of this, about 70 per cent goes for food, 17 per cent for clothing and necessities, 9 per cent for rent and utilities, the rest for squandering or saving. The citizen is urged to deposit his surplus, if any, in savings banks.

Apart from rents, living costs are high. Families get by because usually each has two or more working members. Some improve their situations by having their own vegetable gardens, even cows and chickens, though this now is being discouraged officially in urban areas.

The average man works about three hours to earn enough for 500 grams—little more than a pound—of butter or bacon. The average American earns that in less than a half hour. A cheap suit costs more than a month's pay; a 15-inch television up to five months pay. The smallest automobile would cost the average worker more than 16 months pay, a university professor about six months pay, and a cabinet minister about two months salary.

One of the biggest consumer economy problems is a severe housing shortage. It is common for a Russian family of four or more to be crowded into a single room. Many families must share kitchen and other facilities. To appreciate what this means, an American might imagine 20 persons crowded into the average-size American home. Khrushchev says a building program will cure this within 12 years, but that's optimistic.

Another sore spot is a severe manpower shortage. This requires use of women for heavy labor. Almost half the labor-employable force is made up of women. Freeing them from it would cut the force in half, have a telling effect on the economy, and weaken the military.

St. Augustine, Fla., founded in 1565, is the oldest surviving city in the United States.

U.N. To Await Khrushchev Views Friday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly convening Tuesday looks to a speech by Nikita Khrushchev for an indication whether it will be a "cold war" or "reconciliation" session.

The 82-nation body, meeting the day the Soviet premier arrives in Washington for his 13-day visit to the United States, has on its schedule a speech by Khrushchev Friday.

The prospective agenda of more than 70 subjects includes an Indian drive to seat Communist China, the Algerians' fight for independence from France, the future of a million Palestine Arab refugees and questions of nuclear and conventional disarmament.

The body is set to elect Victor Andres Belaunde, 77, Peruvian lawyer - teacher - diplomat, as its president soon after starting its 14th annual session.

After speaking to the Assembly Friday, Khrushchev will be Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's guest of honor at an official dinner.

Diplomats are looking to his address on hints on how far he may go toward reaching an agreement with the West — and what he might do toward inducing Communist China to settle her border dispute with India.

The first debate on world issues is expected in the 21-nation steering committee when it meets to choose items from the prospective agenda to recommend for the assembly's consideration.

Despite the Chinese-Indian frontier squabble, India has pressed her July 13 request that the assembly take up the "question of the representation of China" in the U.N. and grant representation to the Communist "People's Government of China."

The United States is ready, as usual, to counter with a proposal that the Assembly shelve the question. She is expected to bolster this with charges that the Chinese Communists have repressed the Tibetans, intruded into India, threatened Chinese Nationalists' offshore islands with gunboats and put the North Vietnamese up to encouraging rebellion in Laos.

Glass Strike Goes Into Its Second Day

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nationwide strike of some 2,000 mold-makers against 26 companies and seven subsidiary firms of the glass container manufacturing industry went into its second day today with no further negotiations in sight.

The strike got under way Sunday at noon. The moldmakers are members of the American Flint Glass Workers Union. Picket activity was reported at most of the industry's plants.

Federal mediator William Rose said negotiations "were discontinued indefinitely" and added: "However, I shall remain in close communication with both sides separately."

The moldmakers had been working on a day-to-day contract extension of an old agreement which expired last Sept. 1.

Rose said the main bone of contention in the negotiations was over an industry demand that grievances not settled at the local level should be submitted to binding arbitration.

Another stumbling block was the industry's rejection of a union proposal for an 13 1/2 cents an hour wage increase. Under the old contract, moldmakers averaged $2.80 an hour.

Faulty Pump Replaced, School Resumes Work

Pupils at Highlandtown School resumed classes today after a four-day dismissal caused by a faulty pump at the Southern Local school.

A new $560 pump was installed Saturday, replacing an 8-year-old deep well submersible pump which is to be repaired and used as an auxiliary. Classes were dismissed Thursday morning when a lack of water was discovered.

The Board of Education authorized the purchase Friday night when it was reported the old pump would no longer be dependable for long-term service.

About 29.9 million tons of fish were caught by commercial fishermen of the world's 12 leading fish producing countries in 1957.

Union Delays Planning For New Building

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters revealed it has asked Robert F. Beatty, architect, to halt preliminary plans for construction of a new $342,015 headquarters building and at the same time hit at "ugly rumors being circulated" by a committee of unionists seeking a vote of the trade on plans for the structure.

The delay in the building planning was announced in the Potters Herald, official union newspaper, under a headline reading: "Unjust Criticism Leveled At Officials for Complying With Convention Mandate."

"International officials are being subjected to undue criticism by this committee, which is blaming Brotherhood officials for blocking attempts to force a referendum on a building program adopted by delegates at the recent convention," the Herald story said.

The referendum committee has charged that IBOP officials have blocked a move to force a vote on the issue. In order to enact resolutions calling for a vote, local unions must give their members notice of meetings through the Herald, but efforts to have the notices published have been frustrated, the committee charged.

The committee said it opposes the plan principally because the new building would be erected along Route 7 near Beaver Local High School, several miles outside the city limits.

The union newspaper said the officials' stand in rejecting notices offered for publication is supported by Section 123 of the IBOP constitution.

"To substantiate the stand of the officials, we refer to Section 123 of the constitution pertaining to local unions asking for repeal of a law and the required notices being inserted in the Potters Herald, bearing the signatures of officers of the local union," the newspaper said. It said some "bore only the signatures of a few officers" and all the notices related to two issues — the building program and a proposed increase in death benefits.

'Electric Heart' Man Will Sit And 'Smile In The Sun'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "I have no plans beyond sitting in the garden in back of my house and smiling in the sun."

That's what Hoy Smith, 77, a retired coal miner, said Sunday as he left Presbyterian Hospital for his home in Fairmont, W. Va.

Smith is being kept alive by an electric heart beat provided by a battery about as big as a king-size pack of cigarettes. (Smith has two stainless-steel electrodes sewed onto the outer surface of his heart. The electrodes are attached to the battery which electrically stimulates the heart beat.)

The unique but powerful battery will assure Smith most of the normal activities of a human being for the rest of his life, according to doctors.

He had been bedridden since June 6 with a severe heart condition. During that time he has been dependent on the electrical heart-stimulation.

When asked if the electrical heart beat bothered him, he laughingly answered:

"Heck no. But now my main problem is how I'm going to button my shirt over this damned thing."

Man 'Buried' Alive

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jesse Smith, 36, of North Ridgeville, Lorain County, was buried for 50 minutes Sunday when the wall of a trench in which he was working collapsed. He was taken to a hospital, but released after X-rays. Smith's face was covered for about a minute, but a co-worker,

James Eckerson, pushed the dirt away so Smith could breathe and then went for help. Smith was laying tile in a sewer trench at a housing project in suburban North

First Earthman To The Moon Believed 5-10 Years Away

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet rocket shot to the moon is the first of many that may prepare the way for the first man on the moon.

Most scientists believe it will be 5 or 10 years before the first earthman, wearing a space suit, steps out upon the surface of the moon.

What will he find?

He will probably find the lunar crust covered with a thick layer of dust. Scientists believe cosmic dust and debris have been collecting on the surface for millions of years, undisturbed by wind or rain, since the moon has no effective atmosphere.

But before this, much must be learned. The Soviet rocket carried instruments which could show whether the moon has a magnetic field, or belts of radiation around it, as the earth does.

And scientists want to know if life in any form exists on the moon. If so, it must be hardy to endure the extremes of temperature which run from 250 degrees Fahrenheit in the daytime to 215 below at night.

They want to examine the dust on the surface, to test one theory that life may have been carried through space to land on the moon after originating somewhere else.

They also want to know if volcanoes caused the eruptions on the moon, and if so, can the explorers tap the heat by means of borings, to supply warmth, and use the heat to create power.

Man may get to the moon, but chances are much slimmer that he will be able to travel to other planetary systems. Such trips, because of the long distances involved, would require that he approach the speed of light, which is considered by many to be a practical impossibility for man, because of the radiation that would be produced.

At present speeds, such trips would take a lifetime.

Miss America Sets Her Aims

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The new Miss America says she thinks it is her duty to "educate herself, to make herself as wholesome as possible so as to set an example for the women of America."

So spoke Lynda Lee Mead, 20, of Natchez, Miss., Sunday. She won the title Saturday night, along with a $10,000 scholarship and the possibility of earning about $75,000 from personal appearances.

Newsman gathered around Miss Mead. How does she like to spend leisure time?

"I like to read and listen to music," she said. She added that music did not include rock 'n' roll. "I just haven't been able to catch on to it."

Boy friend? "There is no one terribly serious in my life."

Eventual goal? "Ultimately, marriage and a family but it'll be years from now, I'm sure. I'm not ready for that yet."

Miss Mead is the second girl in a row from Mississippi to win the title. Mary Ann Mobley of Brandon, Miss., Miss America 1958, also is a University of Mississippi student. This has happened before. Miss Pennsylvania won in 1935 and 1936 and in 1947 and 1948 the Miss Tennessee entrants took the title.

Miss Mead is 5 feet 7, has brown hair and green eyes and measures 36-24-36.

'Welcome Saboteurs!'

Stirs Spellman Attack

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman says the United States now greets saboteurs with "honors and civic receptions, although their briefcases may bulge with propaganda more lethal than explosives."

Although the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was approaching, Spellman did not refer to the Communist leader by name.

The Cardinal spoke Sunday at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy. "Saboteurs now arrive on our shores in jet airliners," he said, "...while their purpose is still sabotage, their targets are the mind and conscience of America."

How To Get Best Education

You Should Know School, Teachers If You Would Help Your Youngster

This is the sixth of 15 articles condensed from the book, "How To Get The Best Education for Your Child," written by the former education editor of the New York Times and his wife, an educator herself.

By DR. BENJAMIN FINE And LILLIAN FINE

Parents who limit themselves to interest in homework are like people who read of politics in newspapers and don't vote.

If you make an active effort to enable the school staff to know and take an interest in your child, you are doing your duty and performing a service for the school as well.

In the main the schools welcome your interest. Occasionally you will find a principal or teacher who is opposed to "interference." If so, you can usually show the school your interest is genuine.

It is well to become acquainted with your high school youngster's home room teacher. Try to be informal with her. An invitation to dinner or to a social gathering may break the ice so you can phone the teacher once in a while to learn how things are going.

SOONER THAN ANYONE else, the homeroom teacher is likely to know if Junior is cutting algebra or fooling around in study hall. And having met you, she is more likely to take an interest in your child's progress.

You will find that most high schools now have a guidance staff whose primary job is to help youngsters choose their courses, keep out of trouble, and meet scholastic requirements. Sometimes these people are called counselors, sometimes advisors, sometimes guidance teachers. Whatever their title, they are people you ought to know.

Don't neglect the principal. His recommendations may have the decisive effect in opening doors to college or a job. It is probably preferable to meet the principal in a social or extracurricular way if you can.

Sometimes parents may find their youngster under the control of a menacing teacher. What can you do about it? The answer is not a simple one at all.

IN ONE CASE a kindergarten teacher had been in a school system for 20 years. Much evidence had accumulated showing that she was actually a hazard for little children. She would not permit 5-year-olds to play or dance or sing. Some were locked in dark closets for minor infractions. Face slappings were not uncommon.

A group of parents went to the school board to complain. "Why don't you see the superintendent?" they were told.

They saw the superintendent. "Sorry, there's nothing I can do," he said. "She has tenure. She has her rights."

The parents went to the state education commissioner. "There's nothing I can do," the commissioner said. "The teacher has tenure. If you bring charges against her, we can act."

THE PARENTS soon learned that "incompetence" is not enough to dislodge a teacher with tenure. Finally the PTA joined forces. The pressure became too great for the superintendent. He transferred the teacher to another school. The parents were only partly happy. Their children would no longer suffer, but what about the children at the other school?

It should be the aim of every parent to see his child in a classroom that does not have more than 25 children. And if your child is on double session, or threatened with it, you should attend the first Parent Teacher Assn. and Board of Education meeting in your community and find out what is happening to your school building program. But the parent must go far deeper into the situation than attending school meetings.

If we were to give but one piece of advice to parents of high school age, it would be, "Join your PTA and become active in it."

BUT AS A RULE the PTA has little power in the control or changing of a school system for the better. Too many PTA's are tied too closely to the school superintendent or principal. If parents wish to join together for the general good of their public schools they must have an organization with alert, well informed leaders.

In some localities, civic organizations such as the League of Women Voters and various college and professional groups have been able to bring about educational reforms. The National Citizens' Council for Better Schools, 9 East 40th St., New York City, is well known. Or consult with your own state committee—some 38 states now have them.

How do you organize a school committee? There are two types of committees—those appointed by the Board of Education, and those independently formed.

We have found that the appointed committees are usually of little more effect than the PTA's. On the other hand, committees that spring up from the grass roots are usually effective. There are some 12,000 such committees in the nation today. And their number is growing.

DESPITE LIMITATIONS, parents have far more power than they realize. Too many citizens are apathetic when it comes to school elections.

Parents should learn the difference between a bond issue and an operating budget, between an elected and an appointed board of officials, between an open and an executive session. Delve into your own school districts; find out if they should be consolidated or centralized. Check on the salaries your teachers get, and see how they compare with neighboring communities. But for facts and for action, parents should be properly organized.

City Worker's Hand Injured

A 27-year-old city street Department worker, injured on the recently obtained sewer cleaning machine, was admitted this morning to City Hospital, where two youngsters and an East End man were treated over the weekend after separate mishaps.

Wayne Shaw, 311 W. 9th St., a city employee, is in "fairly good" condition with a mangled left hand for which he was admitted at 7:30 a. m.

Shaw's hand was caught between a truck and the sewer cleaning machine as he started to hook the machine to the truck. The accident occurred on Smith St., where the sewer cleaning machine had been welded at the factory's request to provide additional reinforcement. W. M. Laughlin, superintendent, said.

Robert Sheville, 29, of 1722 Globe St. was treated Sunday afternoon for a laceration of the left hand received when bricks fell on his hand while he was cleaning a chimney.

Stephen Davis, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davis of Fisher Ave., received a fractured collarbone while playing football. He was treated Sunday.

Georgia Mae Lauderman, 11, daughter of Mrs. Maxine Huffman of Route 30 near Chester, suffered a laceration of the left leg when she slid down a tree she had been climbing Saturday.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Police are holding two runaway Windsor Locks, Conn., boys who turned themselves in with the explanation: "We had about run out of money, so we decided to give ourselves up before we got into more trouble."

The boys—identified as Robert L. Giggly, 16, and Kenneth Beaumont, 18—told of stealing a car and taking $50 from an old woman.

Rail Men Burned

Methodist Temperance Work Has New Look, Official Says

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Methodist temperance work has taken on a new look.

"The accent has shifted from the negative to the positive," says Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance. "The emphasis has gone from legislation to education."

"We recognize that there is a right to drink," he says. "But there also is a right not to drink. We try to set up protections for that right and encourage people to use it."

"We're not waving the prohibition flag anymore. We're just calling attention to the facts and letting them speak for themselves to intelligent people."

The new look is readily apparent in the Methodist Board's plan to conduct a massive, year-long study of the facts of alcoholism to determine the church's attitude and responsibility toward it.

It shows also in the fact that the old "hellfire and brimstone" preaching against alcohol has been replaced by more modern and, it may be said, more pragmatic methods of communication.

One of the Board's most widely shown motion pictures deals with the apparently simple problem: How to refuse a drink gracefully. But the problem is not really simple, says Dr. Hooton.

"Tremendous pressures are being put on people to drink," he says. "Currently, the Board is supporting congressional legislation that would ban the sale of liquor on airplanes and forbid liquor advertising in interstate commerce."

But, if someone proposed a bill to bring back prohibition as it was known during the 1920s, Dr. Hooton doubts whether the Board would support it.

"We would rather see the liquor industry under strict government control," he says. "We'd like to see the profit taken out of it. A business which preys on human weakness is not to be exploited."

'Big Family' Amazes Residents Of Russia

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — A college girl who worked at the U.S. exhibit in Moscow this summer says Soviet citizens were amazed that an American family could afford four children.

Louise W. Jennison, 19, a Vassar College junior, said "The Soviets were amazed that all the children were under 5 years of age." "They couldn't believe Americans could afford what they considered a large family."

Mr. and Mrs. Mario Bernardo, newlyweds, are now at home at Moynelle Dr., Pittsburgh, after a two weeks honeymoon in Florida.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Domski of Curry Ave. and Midway Ln., and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bernardo, 2160 Harvey Ave.

The double-ring ceremony was performed Aug. 22 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church by Fr. Benedict C. Franzetta of Youngstown, uncle of the bride, before an altar banked with ferns, palms and giant white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. James O'Reilly, church organist, sang the Mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white organdy, featuring a Sabrina neckline and short sleeves with embroidered bodice and panels on the skirt.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a cap of appliques matching her dress. She carried a cascade of white carnations, stephanotis and ivy. All the familiar traditions were observed.

Miss Barbara Domski was her sister's maid of honor and wore a street-length dress of peony color or chiffon styled with a full skirt and an empire waist of satin. She wore a matching satin Dior bow and silk slippers, and carried a Colonial bouquet of dwarf chrysanthemums, ranging from a deep rose to white.

The mother of the bride was attired in a Loden green lace sheath ensemble with matching accessories with yellow rosebuds attached to her clutch purse, while the bridegroom's mother wore a gray sheath outfit with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going with a very intelligent man. We agree on most things, but something came up a few days ago that on the surface seemed like a trifle. It could be the issue on which our relationship stands or falls.

I have lovely hands and long tapering fingernails. I happen to like vivid shades of frosted nail polish. I keep my nails well manicured and people often comment on how attractive they are.

The other evening Cal said, "Why don't you shorten those claws and take off that hideous polish?"

I was stunned. We didn't argue but I told him as a matter of principle I would not be dictated to. He said it had nothing to do with a dictatorship and reminded me that when I expressed a dislike for suspenders he stopped wearing them.

I say this is different. Am I right? I like my nails this way. Your opinion, please — REDDER THAN RED.

Teen-Age Tomboy

Dear Ann: I'm writing about my niece who will be 16 years old in a few months. We took her to live with us when her parents were divorced and neither of them could provide a suitable home for her.

The other day I happened to be looking out the kitchen window and I saw her wrestling with the neighbor's 14-year-old son. She's very tomboyish, climbs trees and plays ball in the street. But yet she flirts and uses her femininity when she thinks it will pay off.

My husband says she's in the betwixt and between stage and that I shouldn't say anything. I don't think this wrestling is right and I feel I should speak up. Your opinion please. — SUBBING FOR MOTHER.

Dear Subbing: A girl almost 16 is more a woman than a child. She should not be wrestling with boys and I hope you'll tell her so.

Since she seems to have so much excess energy, suggest she scrub the porch, polish the woodwork or do other household chores which will train her for homemaking. Keep this young lady out of the trees and tell her to get on the wrestling.

Behaves Like Warden

Dear Ann: My girl friend's sister is being married in a few weeks. She's to be the maid of honor. The best man is the groom's uncle, from out of town. I've been invited as a guest so I'm not in the bridal party.

My girl tells me there's going to be a blowout for the bridal party the night before the wedding. She claims she has to go with the best man—as his date. I say she doesn't have to do any such thing. In my opinion it's just an excuse to step out on me.

We're having terrible fights about this. Please say I'm right and settle it. —PLENTY TEED OFF.

Dear Teed: You're not right and I hope this settles it. If your relationship is so shaky you can't let the girl out of your sight for one night, there's not much there. Stop behaving like a warden and give her your blessings.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Children Enjoy World Of Fantasy

What can be more delightful than to see the youngster, about two or earlier, take his first flight on his wings of imagination. This, of course, may come much earlier or much later. He talks about things not present or he talks to them as if they really were right there before his eyes and ears.

By Garry Meyers or in his hands. "See the little birdie in the bottle? Now it's coming out of the bottle," said our little daughter when not quite two (she's the mother of four children now). I can well remember my surprise at her remark for no bird or bottle was visible to me.

Yet her mother, quick to appreciate this creative event, talked to the child about this birdie and the conversation was spirited.

Pretty soon this youngster was inviting me to drink tea with her. All she had were some small bits of paper. Yet I can still recall her smiles and glow of satisfaction as she saw me participating.

FROM THEN on, for several more years, she spent many short or longer periods a day in her world of fancy. About the same thing happened with her older and younger brothers.

All these children had been read to from before the age of two until they were far beyond six; and many of the stories they listened to were fanciful.

From three to five they all spun many imaginary yarns, not when asked to do so, but when occasion prompted them. Often these yarns included items from one or several stories they had heard, occasionally woven in with real experiences.

We took down pages and pages of these yarns, some of which were published in my first book. Their children have read some of these creations eagerly.

Now and then a mother sends me a yarn her youngster two, three or four has spun out of his own head. These yarns are choice for their novelty and spontaneity.

SOME EDUCATORS have warned against much reading of fanciful materials to young children, lest they grow up to be daydreamers, escapists and impractical persons.

Yet one of our children became, before marriage, a teacher of home economics, the eldest a professor of zoology and botany, and the youngest an M.I.T. educated engineer.

You and I know many other persons entering fields of realism, though filled with fairy tales in infancy. And when we examine the early childhood biographies of many eminent scientists, engineers and "world-builders," we find that ever so many of them were fired with imaginary tales when they were very young.

My bulletins, "Stimulate Your Child's Imagination" and "Beginnings of Imagination," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

School Policy Told To Group

NEW CUMBERLAND — The Parent-Teacher Association heard an outline of school policy for the 1959-60 term from Principal Curtis P. Smith and Joseph Endry, assistant principal, at Thursday night's meeting — the first of the term.

Smith, who succeeded C. D. Henderson, praised the high school teaching staff for its 100 per cent membership in 1958-59 in the National Education Association. Teachers received a citation, he added.

He also explained the extended plan of school hours for this term and assured PTA members that teachers will be in school at least 30 minutes before the opening of classes to provide proper supervision.

Smith also pointed out that parents will be notified in the spring if their children are not making sufficient progress to advance to the next grade.

Teachers were introduced and their qualifications mentioned by Mrs. John D. Herron and Atty. Edwin Flowers. A budget for the year was approved.

The group voted to begin paying dues to the Ohio Valley Air Pollution Council so that a delegate may attend meetings. Mrs. Ronald Pettit was named chairman of the Junior Hi-Teens.

Mrs. Claudius Ford, president, presided. A movie was screened. Mrs. George Gehring was in charge of refreshments. The next meeting will be Oct. 8.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Working Wives Need Proper Nutrition

What would you guess the average (median) age of women in the labor forces to be today? Surprisingly enough — it's 40. According to 1958 statistics, about half the women in industry today are over 40.

It's almost as common for a woman of 50 to be working it is for a 20-year-old.

The greatest number of requests for reducing diets come from working wives. There are a number of reasons for this: working wives have to eat to keep up their strength, particularly the 40-and-over homemakers; ready-to-eat foods tend to be generous on the calorie score — and we use less fuel in middle age. The human machine requires one percent less fuel each year after 25.

BUT LET'S GET down to cases. If you are a working wife and your weight has steadily increased, you want to reverse the trend. You would like to lose around 20 pounds and step up your energy. Is the solution to go on some quickie diet? You probably know from experience that such dieting is futile.

The ideal plan is to turn to superior nutrition and keep the calories around 1,200 a day. Get over the notion that you will feel hungry and irritable and not have sufficient strength to continue two jobs. On a protective plan, you eat to build slimmness and beat fatigue.

Plan each meal around a complete protein food, or a double protein if you wish. Start with breakfast. Surveys prove that when breakfast is inadequate, energy lags by mid-morning. Chances are, those who dislike breakfast eat a little too much at dinner and do not allow enough time for the morning meal.

If you are in earnest about getting down to shapely weight, you'll give the energy boosting breakfast plan a try. Have fruit juice, an egg, one or two thin slices of toast (unbuttered), a rounded teaspoon of jelly, and coffee.

Here is a pattern for those who carry their lunch: sandwich, two thin slices of bread and a thick filling of lean meat, chicken or cheese, plus a thin spread of mayonnaise or mustard as desired. Wax wrap celery, carrot slivers, radishes, or a tomato. For dessert have fresh fruit — vary the choice. Tea or coffee, optional.

A LATE AFTERNOON energy pick-up is a "must" for working wives. The pick-up should be limited to 100 calories. A glass of buttermilk is a good choice. If possible, have this around 4 o'clock.

Some working wives prepare a snack before they leave in the morning and eat it the minute they get home — even before taking off their hats. Fortified, they then start dinner preparations. Dinner can be an excellent meal for 450 calories.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Mr. and Mrs. Reducing Plan." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Presbytery Class Staged For 120 At Wellsville Church

Approximately 120 attended the Christian Education Institute of the Steubenville Presbytery Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church in Wellsville.

The Rev. Phillip Fletcher, pastor, and Mayor William Shoub, superintendent of the Sunday School department, were in charge. The meeting was arranged by the Christian Education Committee, with the Rev. Gene Toot of Hopedale as chairman.

Some 30 children participated in the observation classes held for younger groups.

Four copies of the filmstrip, "The Versatile Vehicle," which was screened, are available for use through the Presbytery. The Rev. George Jenkins, of Carrollton will arrange for their use.

The Rev. Donald Mellon of Brilliant was assisted by Miss Linda McIntosh of East Liverpool in the senior hi discussion groups. Attending were Sunday School teachers, Westminster Fellowship advisors, superintendents and ministers.

Refreshments were served by women of the church.

The second institute will be held Sunday afternoon at the Starkdale Presbyterian Church in Wintersville. It will feature the same program.

Democrats Will Open Election Headquarters

The formal opening is planned for next Monday. A luncheon will be held later in September to launch the fall campaign, he said.

BETTER MEALS BUILD BETTER FAMILIES

BEGINNING MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14 and continuing through Saturday, September 26, you'll be seeing this symbol and phrase, "Better Meals Build Better Families." You'll see it displayed in your daily newspaper and in your favorite food stores. It's the sign of "extra" values for food customers.

This symbol identifies a concerted movement backed by food manufacturers, distributors, retailers and their trade associations and your daily newspapers. One of the main purposes of this movement is to emphasize to you, the consumer, the importance of food and regular meals in your family life.

Because food is such an everyday item and because it is so convenient to buy, we are likely to overlook its values and nutritional qualities. Therefore, during September 14-26, you'll be reminded through advertisements in your newspaper and displays in your local food stores of the great benefits that food brings you today.

Remember, better meals build better families. Keep this thought in mind as you plan and shop for the food for your meals in the advertising and feature pages of your "Total Selling" medium—your daily newspaper.

Talks Resume After Union's 'Standing Pat'

NEW YORK (AP)—Full-scale negotiations in the nation's longest steel strike resume today in the shadow of a warning from the union that it will not budge.

United Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald made the statement while appearing on a television program Sunday.

He said the union does not intend to back down on its demand for higher wages and its refusal to accept changes in current work practices. Prestrike wages averaged $3.11 an hour.

Accusing the steel companies of trying to "turn back the clock," McDonald said the union would not retreat no matter how long the strike lasts.

Top-level negotiations were in recess Sunday.

The strike, which affects almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel production and has idled half a million steelworkers and an estimated 175,000 others, went into its 63rd day today.

All over the country steel inventories were low and the impact of the strike growing.

No federal intervention is expected before next month, but President Eisenhower has indicated he would force an 80-day resumption of production through provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act if he thought the strike was threatening national safety or health.

Junkets Ban Pondered By House Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders may ban junkets next year while Congress is in session. Junkets are those taxpayer-paid trips abroad so dear to the heart of so many congressmen.

Fewer than half the House members were present for Saturday's session. Many of them have been abroad for some time. Others had gone home for the weekend.

That meant Saturday's session lacked a quorum—the attendance of at least half the members. If one member had objected, the House would have had to adjourn until enough of the wanderers were called back. No one objected, so some routine business was taken care of.

Under consideration is a proposed rule that would bar use of public funds for congressional travel overseas while Congress is in session. Any member going abroad at that time would have to pay his own way.

Absenteeism has been a vital factor several times in recent weeks. Some Democrats believe the first veto of a public works bill could have been overridden if absent members had been on hand.

Young Motorist Gets $10 Penalty

A Steubenville youth was fined today in Municipal Court and three other motorists forfeited bonds.

Thomas C. Taylor, 18, drew a fine of $10 and costs from Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw on a charge of reckless driving. Police cited Taylor at 8:30 a. m. to day alleging he drove at excessive speed through the school zone on W. 8th St.

William J. Jones, 1253 Croft St., forfeited a $16 bond on a charge of failing to stop within the assured clear distance. He was cited Tuesday afternoon on Route 30 by the State Highway Patrol as the aftermath of a collision in which seven were injured.

Rodney C. Evans of Dresden Ave. Ext. and G. J. Polverino of Freehold, N. J., each forfeited $11 on patrol charges.

The patrol cited Evans Saturday afternoon on Route 30 for operating a motor vehicle without a muffler and Polverino was arrested Sunday afternoon on Route 7 for passing at an intersection.

Man's Auto Damaged, Then Thief Takes Wife

A Wellsville man had double trouble here Saturday, police reported.

Police said a collision at 11:15 a. m. at E. 5th St. and Grove Alley caused minor damage to the grille and bumper of a 1955 car owned by Dominic Pucci, 44, 712 Diamond St.

Lloyd Tucker, 58, of 592 Beleck St. told police he had been halted for the parade honoring the national championship VFW drill team and started to pull out when he was rammed by Pucci. No damage was listed to Tucker's car.

An hour later, Pucci told police a distributor cable was taken from his car while it was parked on W. 6th St. between noon and 12:20 p. m.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

Put Romance Into Your Life

An interesting story is told about Ramsey MacDonald, one time prime minister of England. He suffered a sad loss when his wife died early in life leaving behind four children.

MacDonald told the children for MacDonald to bring up. Her last words to her husband were wise indeed: "Put romance into the lives of our children." It was a curious last admonition. But certainly, the capacity for romance is one of the most important legacies she could have left her children. Because if a young person becomes responsive to the wonder and glory which is in every aspect of life, it will lift him out of himself, and make him a dynamic part of a wonderful world. The romance of life will sustain him and keep him going with zest and enthusiasm, no matter what.

MY OWN mother taught her children to live with romance. One of the things I remember best about her was that, if my brothers or I ever complained, she would say, "You must learn to love life. You're living in a beautiful world; see as much of it as you can. Love the world and make the most of every minute of your life." One of her favorite phrases was, "Always keep your soul open to the beauty of the world." I am grateful to my mother for giving me this exciting and romantic attitude toward life.

My son John graduated at Deerfield Academy and I got to know Dr. Frank Boyden, its headmaster, very well indeed. He is a rare soul, one of the greatest educators of boys America ever had. Most every evening he concludes his announcements to the 500 boys in the big dining hall by saying, "And boys, as you go out, take a look at the hills." Misty-eyed old Deerfield boys will tell you that they found new beauty in the Massachusetts hills at twilight from a wonderful teacher who was trying to put romance into their lives. He knew they would need some wonder and glory in their hearts for the long, and often hard, pull across the years.

I SINCERELY believe God meant us to be sensitive to the world about us, else why would He have filled it with such charm and beauty? We are supposed to be alive, wholly alive to the tips of our fingers! Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life." Almighty God, who breathed into us the breath of life, surely intends us to get outside ourselves and enter into human relationships and activity about us with appreciation, with eagerness and enthusiasm.

Once on a speaking engagement in Fargo, North Dakota, I was scheduled to make a speech the next night in Duluth, Minnesota. "Go by air," a friend advised. "By plane you can be in Duluth in an hour."

"Isn't there anything to see between Fargo and Duluth?" I asked.

"No," he answered, "not much. Only a bunch of lakes."

Well, I'd never been through that particular area and I decided to drive so as to see the lakes. And I'm glad I did. For what I saw and felt added to the romance of living for me.

Some friends and I started out early on a beautiful morning. Spring hadn't quite come yet, but there was already unmistakable trace of it in the air and on the land. And I've never seen so many lakes in all my life and of such depth of color. I began to understand why they call this part of our country, "The land of the sky-blue water."

Circling the lakes were tall pine trees — and poplar and birch and aspen. Above, a great, clear, blue sky with patches of fleecy clouds — sometimes these clouds were reflected in the green-blue lakes, as in a painting.

As I drank in all this beauty, the trees and the lakes and the sky, I thought of Ralph Waldo Emerson's words: "The sky is the daily bread of the soul." I felt clean and refreshed from communion with that tremendous countryside, and I never have regretted my decision to see that "bunch of lakes."

WELL, NOW, how about you? Are you putting romance into your life in full measure? Do you get a big thrill out of the world about you and the people you know? Do you feel a real zest for life, for your surroundings, for your work?

Or are you, perhaps, too preoccupied and worried with your problems?

You know, even problems can take on new meaning for you if you take them in the right way. Life would be empty of the delight of achievement if there were no problems.

Tom Paine, in the days of Valley Forge, put it this way: "These are the times that try men's souls . . . the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; 'tis dearness only that gives everything its value."

So try being wholly alive in everything you undertake, in solving a particular problem, in your daily relationships with others, in your everyday living and work. Put spirit into your life — and zest. And, above all, put romance into your life. It will make living different, wonderfully different.

Richard Fleming, 17, and a passenger in his car, Leah Siders, 50, both of Wadsworth, in a three-car collision 1 1/4 miles south of that Medina County town on Ohio 94.

Jethro Herman Bernard, 38, Rt. 1, Chillicothe, when his car collided with another auto on a Ross County road north of Chillicothe.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Just what causes waffles to stick to the iron?

A. Probably one of the following reasons: The waffle iron was not properly cleaned. The lid was lifted before the waffle was baked. The batter was poured before the iron was hot. The grids were not seasoned properly. Or it may be that your recipe did not call for enough fat; try adding one or two extra tablespoons of fat.

Q. How can I avoid the inevitable spatter that results when I hammer the lid back on a can of paint I have just used?

A. All you have to do is drape an old rag over the lid and can, then hammer your lid onto the can through this rag.

Q. How can I clean patent leather shoes?

A. Clean them with soap and water, they dry well. Rub well with petroleum jelly or some lard from the kitchen.

Ohio's Traffic Kills 22 More

Traffic
Fire
Drowning
Miscellaneous
Total

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents in Ohio claimed 22 lives the past weekend, the Associated Press tabulation from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed.

Rather a routine amount as a figure compared with other recent weekends — but a terrible toll when the victims are considered as individuals, many in youth or the prime of life, whose lives are cut short needlessly.

Like the four teen-agers who perished in the weekend's most massive mishap — the crash of their car into a stopped freight train in Rossford.

Or the eight-year-old boy who died with his grandfather, 60, in a four-car smashup at Canton. Or the 17-year-old youth who was killed along with a 50-year-old passenger in a three-car crash near Wadsworth.

To that trio of multiple fatal accidents were added 12 mishaps that took one life each.

With the resort season ended after Labor Day and swimming about finished, especially with advent of cooler weather, there were no drownings over the weekend. But a two-victim plane crash near Shelby, a home fire and a fall out a window ran the total Ohio accidental death toll for the 54-hour period to at least 26.

The fatalities:

Saturday

Elijah Barney, 33, Fremont, when his car overturned on the U.S. 20 bypass just north of Fremont after it left the road and sideswiped a guard rail.

Toy Bartley, 20, Mansfield, when his car failed to halt for a stop sign at a "T" intersection of two Richland County roads and crashed into a tree stump and fence post.

Don Ballard, 26, Sego (Perry County), when his car collided with another auto 10 miles south of Zanesville on U.S. 22.

Clarence (Red) McAfee, 40, of near Ironton, when his truck left Ohio 217 near Linville, east of Ironton, and hit a tree.

Rocco Serena, 60, and his grandson, Ricky Serena, 8, both of Canton, in a four-car collision there.

Frank Smith, 43, Cleveland, hit by a car on a street there.

Joseph Boch, 7, Rt. 1, Lancaster hit by a car as he ran across the road in front of his home mailbox.

Irvin Carter, 52, Rt. 4, Lancaster, when his car went through a road barrier south of Lancaster and upset.

Sunday

Clifford Akins Jr., 19, Sylvania, and Cornelius James Brown, 18, Sam Barner, 14, and Zerkel Greer, 18, all of Rossford, when their car crashed into a stopped freight train in Rossford.

Richard Fleming, 17, and a passenger in his car, Leah Siders, 50, both of Wadsworth, in a three-car collision 1 1/4 miles south of that Medina County town on Ohio 94.

Driver Blames Illness

Car Smashes Into House

A house and three cars were damaged early Saturday afternoon when an East End motorist collapsed from a sudden illness at the wheel of his west-bound auto on Pennsylvania Ave.

The motorist was examined at City Hospital and two women occupants of the house were treated by a physician for shock, police said.

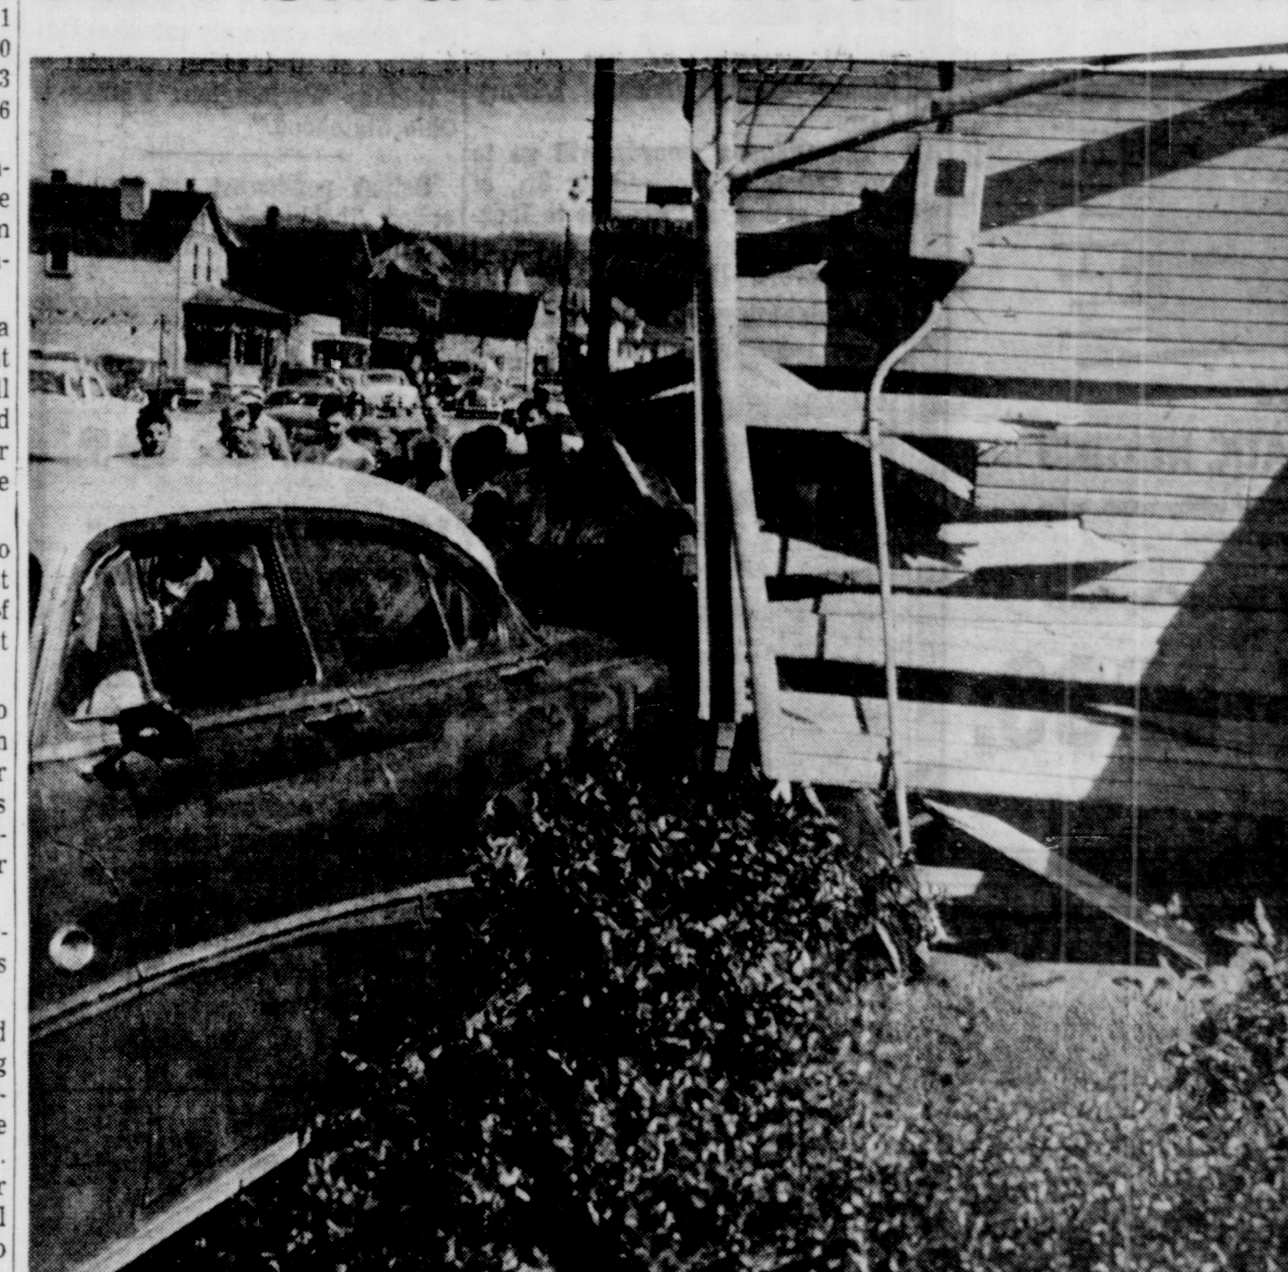

Donald D. Humphries, 58, of 1722 Alpha St. was released after being examined at the hospital following the accident shortly before 1 p. m. in the 1100 block on Pennsylvania Ave.

Police said they were told by witnesses that Humphries was headed west about 20 miles an hour when the driver suddenly slumped over the wheel. Police said his foot apparently tramped on the gas and the car careened down the street, striking two parked cars.

The auto struck a 1957 sedan owned by Chloris F. Everson, 1170 Pennsylvania Ave., damaging the left rear fender and bumper, and then hit a parked 1953 sedan owned by Samuel L. Grimes, 1160 Pennsylvania Ave., causing damage to the right

More Homes Using Electrical Heat

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The battle goes on among various industries in an effort to convince the general public that one form of heat or another is the best that can be used in homes.

Supporters of oil, gas and coal are constantly producing facts and figures intended to show that their particular fuel does the finest job of producing heat, from the stand-point of economy as well as comfort.

From time to time we have discussed various aspects of heating with oil, gas and coal. Now we have run across some figures which indicate that a little attention might be paid to a form of heat — electric — used quite extensively in the South and West.

These figures show that more than half a million homes now are electrically heated, with the total expected to reach four times that number in a few years.

What are the advantages of electric heat? We'll let an industry spokesman, Roger Weiler, answer that:

"There is no flame to cause dirt and soot, thus lowering decorating costs substantially over a period of time. Most electric heating devices are actually controlled in the rooms, so the temperature in each room can be varied to actual need. And electric heat does not consume the humidity in the home and requires no humidifiers such as are necessary with most flame-burning systems."

Doesn't electric heat cost more?

"While the cost of heating a home electrically is still higher than conventional methods, the added cost averages only $2 to $4 a month more for an average-sized home in areas where special rates are offered."

WEILER offered this additional information on electric heating: Electric heating systems basically break down into two types—resistance heating and the heat-pump. Most existing installations are of the resistance variety. This latter type operates much like a toaster.

An electric current is passed through an element such as a thin wire or coil. The element becomes hot because of its resistance to the current. With resistance heating, distribution is through the baseboard, ceiling cable or wall panel.

Heat pumps work like air conditioners, except that they can both heat and cool the house. When heating, a pump collects heat from the outdoors and forces it inside the house.

For cooling, the action is reversed. There is always some heat in the outside air. However, under 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit, the pump has a difficult time collecting enough heat for the entire house. In low temperature areas, resistance heating is used with the pumps to provide the extra heat needed.

Your Painting Projects Can Be Easy As 'Pie'

WASHINGTON — There aren't any statistics to show the percentage, but it is safe to assume that thousands of women are planning this autumn—as every autumn—to "do over" some portion or all of their home interiors.

Because of today's easy to apply, quick drying paints—in hundreds of new colors and types—the number of do-it-yourself projects probably will reach a new high. Painting any room in the house is no long-time chore any more. And decorating a room is actually an easy job that can be done by almost any member of the family.

DOING YOUR own painting is a very rewarding and satisfying experience. You'll find it fun, and you'll save money, too. After you have decided what it is you want to do, collect all the required and recommended tools and materials.

You will avoid a lot of hunting around or unnecessary trips back to the store for a certain brush or piece of sandpaper. Be sure to move or cover your furniture and floors carefully—cleaning up after can put a damper on the fun of doing your own painting.

If you never have used a paint roller, now is the time to try one. You will find that paint goes on like a breeze. Rollers are easy to clean and come in a variety of sizes, shapes and sleeve naps, depending on the type of effect you wish to create. Extra long-handled rollers make it possible to reach ceilings and upper wall areas with the greatest of ease. You will need a brush for certain areas such as tight corners and places your roller cannot reach.

ALWAYS START with the ceiling first. If it is to be a different color than the walls, and requires a second coat, do this before you begin the walls and woodwork. It's also a good idea to let it dry overnight before starting on the other room surfaces.

Before you begin any painting, be sure to check all the surfaces for cracks. These cracks should be filled with spackling.

Follow the directions on the can so that your surface will be perfectly smooth and level once the spackling has dried. Use patching plaster for larger cracks. To insure that the plaster does not fall out, often it is necessary to undercut the crack, making it narrow at the surface and wider inside.

Always work across the width of the ceiling rather than the length. This enables you to begin a second lap before the first has dried completely. Never try to paint a strip more than two feet wide.

When you begin on your walls, start at the upper left hand corner of a wall and work downward, painting a two-foot wide strip at a time.

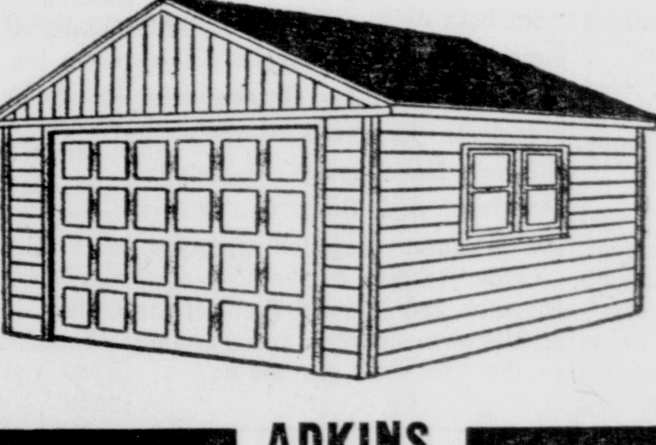

After the walls are completed, paint the woodwork. Then, stand back and enjoy the satisfaction and pleasure you have gained from bringing new beauty and a new look to your home.

Washroom Plays Important Role In Your Basement

CHICAGO — A basement washroom? Why not?

With the increasing use of the basement for recreation purposes, a washroom is a very practical idea.

A basement washroom is popular not only with the home hobbyist, the man with a workshop, but is also used by the home gardener and is a convenience for the entire family coming back from the beach.

The basement washroom also serves as a mud room when there are small children in the family. It's a handy place for youngsters to wash up and change clothes, the Plumbing - heating - Cooling Information Bureau says.

The basement washroom should have a shower bath in addition to a water closet and lavatory. A medicine cabinet should be provided over the lavatory for the storage of soaps, brushes and shaving articles.

The walls and door should be painted a bright, cheerful color in a good washable paint. It is a good idea to apply a ring of dark-colored paint about the door knob. This will not show up dirty fingerprints like a lighter tone.

Usually specially selected old towels and wash cloths are reserved for use in the basement bathroom. A towel cupboard should be built for these.

Householders who are interested in the installation of a basement washroom in an existing house are advised to consult with an experienced plumbing contractor.

How High Should Outside Faucet Be From Ground?

Newsfeatures

Question: We're having an outside faucet placed at the side of our house. How high should it be from the ground?

Answer: If a plumber is doing the job, he'll provide you with the answer for your particular need. Generally, it is wise to have the faucet high enough so that a pail or other type of bucket can be placed beneath it, even though the faucet may be used mostly for attaching a hose to it.

Question: The wrought iron railings outside our house have begun to develop small rust spots. Must this rust be removed before the railings are repainted?

Answer: Brush away the loose rust particles with a wire brush. Apply one of the special red primer coats which can be applied directly over firm rust. Then paint. Remember the important part: that the loose rust particles must be removed first.

Question: I added a front porch to our house some years ago. Some of the wooden boards on it have shrunk, leaving large cracks between them. I filled these cracks with putty and everything appeared to be fine for about a year. Now the putty has worked loose. Is there any way I can fill these cracks so that the filler will not come loose?

Answer: First of all, if the boards are loose in any way—that is, if they move when walked on—it will not make much difference how you fill the cracks; the filler will come out after a while.

But if you are sure that all the boards are fastened tightly, fill the cracks with the kind of calking material used for wooden boats. When the openings are all filled, the very tiniest fraction of an inch below the surface, apply regular calking compound to make the repair level with the surface. You can paint the entire floor to disguise the repair.

Maple Trees Show Damage By Hot Weather Leaf Scorch

While area residents have suffered from the extreme late summer heat wave, nature's loveliest contribution—trees—also have been affected.

Tent caterpillars, fall web worms and locust have marred the appearance of woods, hillsides, parks and family trees along with other serious ailments.

"Leaf scorch," caused by a bright sunshine after a period of moist weather, has caused many maple trees in the area to take on a scorched appearance. Leaves have become bronzed in irregular areas, usually from the margins inward.

The maple—considered one of the most hardy trees—also has been afflicted this summer by "anthracnose," a disease which arrives in wet seasons. Affected leaves of the Norway maple show purple to brown narrow lines along the veins. Those of the sugar maple show larger irregular green-brown or red-brown areas along and between the veins extending to the leaf margins.

Oliver Johnson, Hancock County agricultural agent, reported that he saw cases of maple wilt this summer for the first time. Maple wilt is characterized by a sudden wilting and dying of the leaves.

Johnson said the Dutch elm disease also is taking its toll, with elms dying out all over the county.

Johnson urged that area residents combat the tree diseases and keep trees healthy and vigorous by fertilizing each year. Early spring or late fall is the best time, he said.

He listed the "common rule-of-thumb for application" is one to three pounds of fertilizer for each inch the tree measures in circumference at breast height. The dosage varies with the vigor of the tree and the kind of fertilizer used.

The fertilizer should be applied mostly at the drip line of the tree, Johnson said. If there is sod under the tree, fertilizer can be made more effective by punching holes around the tree about 18 inches deep and filling them with fertilizer with the use of a funnel, he added.

"Dead or damaged wood should be kept pruned out," the farm agent pointed out. All cuts should be made smooth without any stubs, so the bark can heal over smoothly. Limbs or twigs dying back on a tree are often a symptom of a lack of fertility, he said.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Truman Stoozes For Benny

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. Jack Benny came to this quiet suburban town last week to collect a reward for his lasting friendship with the 33rd President of the United States, Harry S. Truman. ("We've been good friends since he first became Vice President.")

It is a generous reward, Citizen Truman, ministering to Benny's predilection for off-beat casting, devoted three days of his time to the taping of a "Jack Benny Show" that will be shown on CBS Oct. 18.

Marie Torre

The setting for this unique event is the Truman Memorial Library, much of which will be shown to viewers. But what viewers will not see is Mr. Truman and Mr. Benny playing Alphonse and Gaston. This can be seen only at the taping sessions, which have been fraught with cordiality.

"NOW, JACK," Mr. Truman repeatedly asked, "are you sure there are enough laughs in the script? After all, yours is a comedy show. I want you to be happy with this."

"Don't worry! Don't worry!" Benny would answer. "Are we getting across all the important things you want to say? I want YOU to be happy."

It's a well-known fact that Benny always has given tender care to show guests, but with this guest Benny was being tender to the point of pain.

"I don't know when I've been this nervous about a show," Benny said at one point during rehearsals. "I want to be so sure that this is kept dignified throughout."

"Oh, it will, it will," Mr. Truman assured him. "I'll kill myself if it isn't, Benny rejoined."

"Say," Mr. Truman shot back, "I've got an undertaker friend."

THE PURPOSE of the program is to give viewers some insight into the Truman Library. Most of the action takes place in the main exhibition room which contains letters, pictures and assorted memorabilia from Mr. Truman's days in the White House.

Between Mr. Truman's explanations of presidential duties, there's comedy relief. Such as:

BENNY: Reading all those laws and bills must have taken a lot of time.

TRUMAN: It did. But I like to read. I've been reading since I was 14. We had time to read in those days. We had no TV.

BENNY: I've been reading since I was 9. We had no TV either. But we didn't need it. The Indians were real.

In director Seymour Bern's opinion, "Mr. President," as he called Mr. Truman, responds well to direction. Sometimes too well. When asked to throw away a line to lighten the comedy impact, for example, Mr. Truman sometimes threw it out so far that it was hardly audible. ("These scale actors are murder," remarked Mr. Bern in a humorous aside.)

DURING A BREAK, while Mr. Truman's smiling demeanor was visible at the other end of the exhibition room, we asked Benny how he managed to engage the former President for his show.

"It was easy," he said. "I just asked him, and he said sure. That's the kind of man he is. A real friend. Last year he asked me if I would help out the Kansas City Symphony by doing one of my concerts for them, and he's never forgotten it."

"I'll bet the Democratic party isn't too happy about this, either. You know, a man of his stature appearing with a comedian."

"But that's Truman for you. Always eager to do something for a friend. Always considerate. He's so considerate that yesterday, during a script conference, he wanted to eliminate one of his lines because he thought it was a jab at my expense."

"I had something to do with an 'I Can't Stand Jack Benny' contest — something we actually did on radio some years ago."

"Well, he felt it was an insult to me. I said to him, 'Listen there were people who couldn't stand me.'"

"Do you know what his answer was?" added Benny. "He said, 'Not one-third of the people who couldn't stand ME.'"

'Split' Marks Midwest Rally Of Democrats

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The 14-state Midwest Democratic Conference has split into two factions, dissolving the harmony sought at a weekend meeting here.

Each group elected officers and accused the other of holding a rump meeting Sunday.

Both factions said party issues and potential presidential candidates were not affected by the split.

Heading the rival groups are Jame More of Harlan, Iowa, and Frank Theis of Arkansas City, Kan.

More, as conference chairman, opened the business meeting by ruling that a constitution adopted six months ago at Milwaukee was illegal. He said there wasn't a quorum at Milwaukee and no prior notice was given of the proposed constitutional change.

The new constitution says only current state party chairman, vice chairmen and national committee members can vote and hold office in the Midwest Conference.

More, former Iowa state chairman, no longer qualified for the conference chairmanship under the new constitution.

When he announced his ruling, party officers from 11 states walked out and held a separate meeting. They represented Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin, and claimed 37 of the 54 votes in the conference.

Theis, Kansas chairman and national committeeman, was elected chairman.

More, who was retained as chairman of his faction, said his group included representatives from Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, South Dakota and Oklahoma. Most of them appeared to be former party officers.

Both sides said it would be up to the National Democratic Committee to decide which represents the conference.

Achievement Day Set For Sept. 21

Miss Helen Petrakis, Hancock County 4-H Club agent, said plans are being made for the annual Achievement Day banquet to be held Sept. 21 at 6:30 p. m. at the Weirton Community Center.

Recognition will be given to those who participated in county and state activities, attended state camps and other state events, received outstanding camp awards, winner of various 4-H contests held during the year and others.

Mrs. Petrakis will present leadership awards and ribbons to club members.

The committee working on the banquet includes favors and table decorations, Mrs. Robert Greene, Mrs. Raymond Walker, Mrs. Walter Boley, Mrs. John Frankovich and Mrs. Ed Dofka; registration, Mr. George Paar, Mrs. Bernard Jackson, Mrs. Ray Shultz and Mrs. Walter Markle; program, Mrs. William Schladen, Mrs. Wayland Lancaster, Mrs. Julian Wilson, Mrs. Robert Burch, Mrs. Leland Reed, Mrs. Alvin Reed, Mrs. Agnes Ferguson, and Miss Martha Troop.

Eyman Will Take Over Miami Education Unit

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — R. M. Eyman, former state director of education, is coming out of retirement to direct Miami University's Education Service Bureau for the next three months.

Eyman, of Lancaster, will take over for Dr. Ralph Purdy, who will be on a U.S. government mission to Afghanistan until Dec. 1. Eyman has worked with Dr. Purdy on several community school surveys.

Eyman joined the Department of Public Instruction in 1945 and was state director from 1954 to 1957. He continued as assistant chief of public instruction one more year before retiring.

Here's New Fish Story Difficult To Swallow

CLEVELAND (AP)—This fish story is hard to swallow.

Peter J. Mantz, 51, caught a fish on the windshield of his auto Sunday while driving north on the Willow Shoreway.

Mantz was driving under the Fleet Ave. Bridge when he heard a crash on his windshield. He thought a rock was thrown at his car.

When he stopped the auto, he saw the remains of a fish bowl and one fish. Police think the bowl may have come from a church carnival.

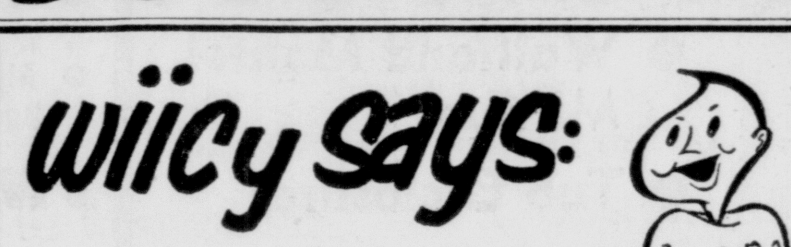

The fish found on the hood was a goldfish.

Check Your Television Antenna: See "The Greatest Shows On TV"

Here's a bit of advice: Have your television antenna checked as soon as possible!

Why? Because good viewing starts with a good antenna system.

I've been telling you all about the "Greatest Shows on TV" that WIIC is bringing you this Fall. In fact, from what I've seen, if you're not watching Channel 11, you're going to be missing the finest television entertainment that's ever been presented.

Your antenna is the key to greater television pleasure. It can prolong the life of your TV set considerably because a good antenna's purpose is to pick up the television signals which are transmitted and feed them to your set.

You've paid a lot of money for that set of yours. So if the picture is bad a lot of people tend to blame the set, the service technician or the station. And, you know what? Your antenna may be the villain!

It may not be properly oriented; it may be corroded; the line leading from your antenna to the set may be frayed and worn. Just like a car needs occasional tune-ups, oil changes and the like, a TV set needs a checkup, too.

If your antenna system is bad, it puts an added strain on your receiver, which means a shorter life for tubes and parts. Don't be penny-wise and pound foolish! Get set for the greatest shows on TV by making sure your set is performing with maximum efficiency.

Many of you might already have seen the colorful WIIC TV antenna truck in your area during the past few days. This truck, loaded with helpful information concerning your television antenna installation, may be in your area shortly. Stop by and visit this truck. Ask the Channel 11 representatives to explain the workings of a TV antenna system to you. Then, have your reliable service technician check your antenna system for you.

With the Channel 11 schedule boasting new shows every day, you don't want to miss out on a single one. For example, this week two more fine

NBC programs are set to premiere. The new hour-long color Western called "Laramie" and starring John Smith, Robert Crawford, Jr., and songwriter Hoagy Carmichael begins Tuesday, September 15, at 7:30 p. m.

Following "Laramie", your old-time radio favorites, "Fibber McGee and Molly" hits the television screens at 8:30 p. m. Bob Sweeney and Cathy Lewis are featured in this hilarious series.

Also on tap Tuesday, September 15 only, is "The VIP", an NBC News account of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's first day in the United States. Frank McGee will narrate this news special at 9 p. m.

With shows like "Laramie", "Fibber McGee and Molly", "The VIP" and a whole host of new ones beginning next week, a good clear television picture is a necessity.

Did you know that every television receiver operates at the mercy of the antenna system? It is also a fact that signal intensity may vary considerably between points in a local area. It is not uncommon for an installation in one home to produce good results from a given channel while an identical installation in the next door neighbor's home produces poor results from the same station.

In fact, points between a maximum signal and a minimum signal in the same locality can be just a few feet apart! In other words, the exact location of your television antenna installation could be the key to your overall television enjoyment.

The installation technician in so-called "problem areas" who is aware of the importance of antenna location and who is willing to do a little "probing" will quickly gain a reputation of getting good results where others may fail. Since there are so many variances in terrain and other factors, the experience of your reliable service technician is very important.

See him today. Have your old antenna checked for proper location and installation. Don't miss a single program on Channel 11's schedule of "The Greatest Shows on TV".

Algerian Plan By De Gaulle Heads For OK

ALGIERS (AP)—The great majority of French army officers in Algeria apparently are ready to accept French President Charles de Gaulle's plan for ending the Algerian war whatever it may be.

De Gaulle has secretly prepared a new approach to settling the costly nationalist rebellion. He is to disclose his plan in a nationwide radio and television broadcast Wednesday. Officially, all that is known is that it will "affirm the principle of self-determination" for the Algerians.

But two days before the expected announcement the hard core of the French army appears to be lined up solidly behind De Gaulle.

"De Gaulle is the only man who can solve the Algerian problem and we have all reason to believe his solution will be compatible with the nation's honor and interests," a staff officer said.

Highly placed French administration sources said some officers remain hostile to De Gaulle, but that their number and influence is not enough to steer the army into an anti-De Gaulle rebellion.

De Gaulle's trusted friend Gen. Maurice Challe seems to be in complete control of the 400,000-man French force fighting the Algerian rebels, who seek complete independence.

Giants Nip Phils, 1-0, While Rivals Lose In Tight NL Race

Leaders Open Up 2-Game Margin

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

As tough to catch as a frightened rabbit, as hard to hold as a slippery eel. That may be the best way to describe Billy Rigney's San Francisco Giants as they continue to bounce back after every seemingly fatal knock-down.

For the fifth time since they leaped past Milwaukee into first place a little over two months ago the Giants appeared ready for the knockout punch. For the fifth time they came back Sunday to win a big one and open more daylight between themselves and their relentless pursuers.

Their lead reduced to a mere half-game, the Giants had only to lose to Philadelphia Saturday to set the stage for a three-way tie for first place.

The Giants bounced back with a victory Saturday and Sunday for a 1-0 squeaker over the Phillies to boost their first place margin to two games over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who bowed 4-3 to Pittsburgh, and the Milwaukee Braves, who were beaten 3-2 by Cincinnati.

In the other National League game, Chicago shut out St. Louis 8-0.

Jack Sanford pitched the Giant victory, limiting the Phillies to five hits. But he needed help from Mike McCormick in the ninth. There were two out and Harry Anderson on second, via a double, when McCormick took over and got Ed Bouchee to end the game with a fly to Willie Mays.

The lone run, off loser Don Cardwell, came in the second and was driven in by pinch hitter Dusty Rhodes with a sacrifice fly. The stage was set for Dusty when Orlando Cepeda and Willie Kirkland singled and Hobe Landrith walked to load the bases. Rigney sent Rhodes in to hit for Danny O'Connell.

Four Pittsburgh home runs ruined the Dodgers. The last was hit by Hank Foiles in the eighth, off reliever Chuck Churn, snapping a 3-3 tie. The others were hit by Ray Mejias, Bob Skinner and Dick Stuart off starter Johnny Podres. Ronnie Kline went all the way for his 10th victory.

Eddie Kasko's fourth hit, a seventh-inning single, scored Frank Robinson and enabled the Reds to break a 3-3 deadlock with Milwaukee. Bob Purkey yielded nine hits for his 12th triumph. The loser was Warren Spahn, who was attempting to register 20 victories for the 10th time. He lost his 14th. Eddie Mathews hit his 38th homer for the Braves.

Ernie Banks batted in five runs for the Cubs with a single, sacrifice fly and his 41st home run. Glen Hobbie blanked the Cards on five hits and snapped Ken Boyer's hitting streak at 29 straight games.

Eagles Whip NFL Champs In Exhibition Tilt, 35-13

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wily Buck Shaw, the silver-tongued coaching craftsman entrusted with the task of rebuilding the Philadelphia Eagles, apparently has his reconstruction program running ahead of schedule.

Hired two seasons ago after 24 years service as head coach in college and pro ranks, the 60-year-old taskmaster warned his players when he took over: "We'll keep one team coming, one going and one playing if necessary" to make the Eagles a threat in the Eastern Division of the National Football League.

Shaw has traded numerous players and shifted others, cajoled some and threatened a few—and the Eagles finally are on the rebound after a dismal 1958 season in which they tied for last with a 2-9-1 record.

Most responsible for Philadelphia's resurgence has been veteran quarterback Norm Van Brocklin—whom Shaw acquired from Los Angeles—and shift Tommy McDonald, now in his third year as a pro after winning All-America honors at Oklahoma.

The Eagles latest conquest came Sunday as Van Brocklin threw three touchdown passes to halfback McDonald in a 35-13 exhibition triumph over the previously undefeated NFL champion Baltimore Colts. The Eagles, now 2-3, are tied for second place in the Eastern warm-up standings.

In other weekend games, Los Angeles showed a powerful attack in walloping San Francisco 48-14; Detroit defeated Cleveland 31-28, and Green Bay knocked off Washington 20-13.

The Colt offense missed regular quarterback Johnny Unitas, who sat on the sidelines as Coach Weeb Ewbank went with Ray Brown in an attempt to develop suitable relief for his all-pro signal-caller. Brown completed 16 of 33 passes for 195 yards.

Jon Arnett, who scored twice, raced 81 yards and Joe Marconi 67 for touchdowns in the first five minutes as the Rams (2-2-1) established themselves as a definite threat in the West to the Colts and Chicago's Bears (5-0).

Tobin Rote hit John Henry Johnson with a pair of TD tosses for 28 and 23 yards in the last two minutes of play as the Lions came from behind to beat the Browns.

Paul Hornung accounted for all the Packer (3-2) points with two short TD runs, two field goals and a pair of conversions.

Glaser picked off a pitch-out early in the first quarter and galloped 68 yards for the only touchdown.

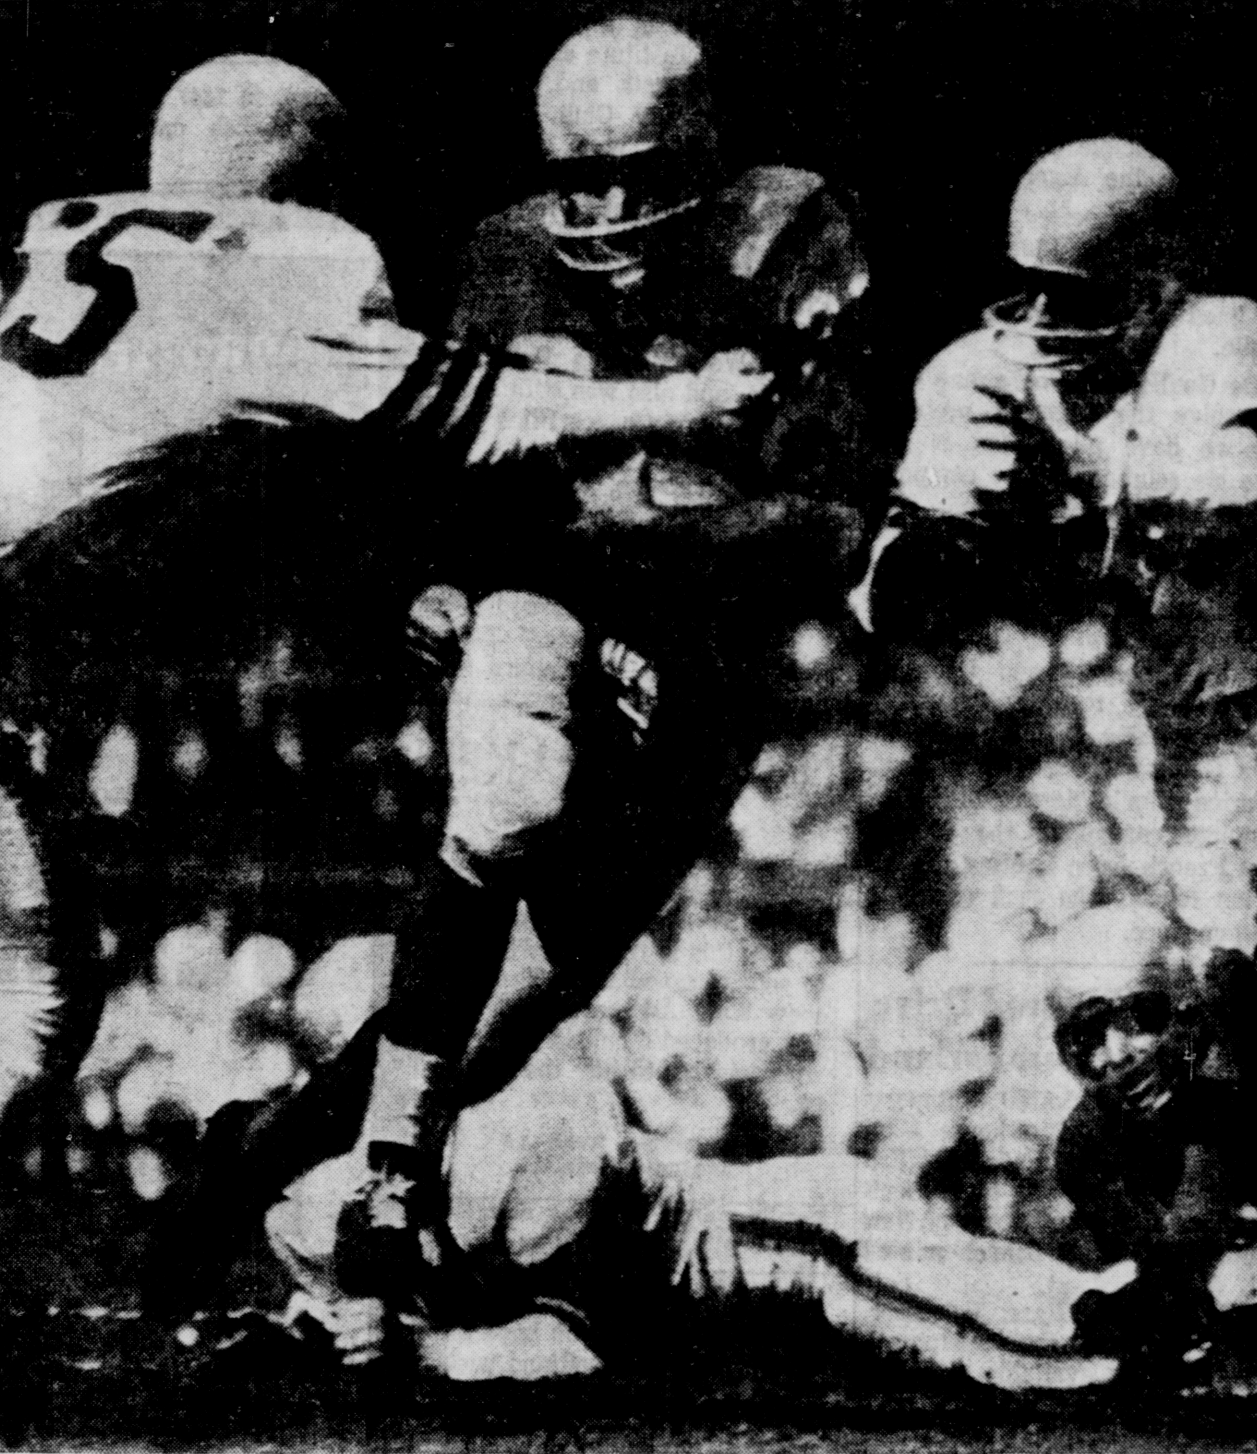

The ball was on the New Cumberland 32-yard line when quarterback George Harris attempted to flip a pitchout to halfback Ron Haynes, but Glaser was there to intercept.

New Cumberland fumbled away its one big chance to score. The Raiders drove to the Northwestern 2-yard line before Joe Everly fumbled late in the first period. Miller will send his team after its first victory Thursday night at Newell.

Score Twice In 1½ Minutes

Lions Stage Late Rally To Edge Cleveland, 31-28

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul Brown doesn't believe in jinxes—although he must find it hard to argue with a record of never a Cleveland Browns' victory in 10 football games at Detroit.

The Lions beat the Browns again Sunday, 31-28, in a preseason contest, pulling out the triumph by scoring twice with slightly more than a minute and a half left in the game.

A crowd of 33,345 turned out in Briggs Stadium and was treated to a high-powered offensive display. Bobby Mitchell scored twice for Cleveland, on a 59-yard dash and a 3-yard run, while fullback Jimmy Brown rambled 42 yards for another touchdown.

Detroit's fullback, John Henry Johnson, snagged two touchdowns passes from quarterback Tobin Rote with the clock running its final course. The actual margin of difference was a 30-yard field goal by Jim Martin in the second period.

The Browns have beaten only

Los Angeles in five preseason games and play the Chicago Bears next Saturday in Cleveland. It was the second loss to the Lions, who topped the Browns 9-3 in Akron's Rubber Bowl earlier.

A fumble by Leroy Bolden was a key factor in Cleveland's loss. The little Michigan State speedster, fighting again for a job on the team, cost the Browns a touchdown with a fumble on the one-yard line in the first half.

After the Lions scored with 1:33 left to cut Cleveland's lead to 28-24, Martin boomed the kickoff to the goal line where it was grabbed by Bolden.

Surely, Cleveland would be able to "kill the clock." But as Bolden smacked into a wave of Lions, the ball squirted out of his arms again and Detroit's Dave Whitell recovered on the Cleveland 28.

Rote hit Johnson over the middle for a 28-yard payoff and the Lions had done it again.

Detroit scored first in the opening period on Danny Lewis' 10-yard sweep on a pitchout from Rote. Rookie Nick Pietrosante, from Notre Dame, scored the Lions' second TD on a two-yard plunge. The rest was Johnson and Rote.

The Browns recovered five Detroit fumbles and turned three of them into touchdowns.

Again going the distance at quarterback, Milt Plum completed 11 of 16 passes for 135 yards—but couldn't connect on any long ones. Rote hit with 13 of 29 aerials for 205 yards.

Mitchell, in his sophomore season, showed his blazing speed and exciting brand of running on his touchdown jaunt. He also sped 90 yards on a kickoff, only to be dragged down on the 5 by Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, the former Ohio State great. The Browns didn't score then, because Bolden fumbled on the one.

Ed Modzelewski, an almost forgotten man behind the great Jimmy Brown, moved over to halfback and scored Cleveland's third touchdown with a one-yard plunge against a stacked Detroit goal line defense.

Boosts Lead To 5½ Games

Goodman's Blast Helps White Sox To 3-1 Victory

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

On July 16, 1957, Billy Goodman hit a home run. Two years and nearly two months—exactly 254 games—went by before he hit another.

The homer Goodman hit two years ago came with a man on base and enabled Baltimore to beat Chicago. The score was 3-1. The homer Goodman hit Sunday also came with a man on base. This one enabled the White Sox to beat Boston. The score? 3-1.

Billy's surprise blow, only his 18th in 12 big league seasons, probably was the most important hit he ever made. It enabled the White Sox to widen their first place lead to 5½ games over Cleveland and all but mathematically eliminate the Indians from pennant contention.

The Indians lost a game and a half to the White Sox as they dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the New York Yankees 2-1 in 11 innings and 1-0. Chicago's magic number now is six. Washington whipped Detroit 5-1 and Kansas City swept a doubleheader from Baltimore 9-5 and 4-1.

Buck Shaw posted his 16th triumph although it took the combined relieving of Billy Pierce and Turk Lown to nail down the White Sox' 89th victory. Goodman's homer was a 400-foot drive into the right field bullpen off Frank Sullivan in the fourth inning. It followed a walk to Jim Landis.

Well pitched games by Cleveland lefty Jack Harshman and right-hander Jim Perry went for naught. Harshman, who had won four straight since his purchase from Boston two months ago, duelled through 10 scoreless innings with Bob Turley of New York. After Turley had left for a pinch hitter, the Indians appeared to have picked up the winning run in the top of the 11th.

Tito Francona literally knocked Ryne Duren out of the box with a line single off the relief pitcher's ankle. Duren had to be carried off the field. Gary Blaylock took over and gave up singles to Rocky Colavito, Russ Nixon and Woodie Held. Francona scored on Held's hit but Colavito was thrown out at the plate. Eli Grba stopped the rally.

Tony Kubek singled to open the Yankee 11th. Mickey Mantle, who had been fanned twice by Harshman, then smashed a home run into the left field bleachers.

Duke Maas took a pitching duel from Perry in the second game, permitting six hits for his 13th straight, five against Cleveland. The Yankees scored in the sixth on a single by Yogi Berra, Elston Howard's sacrifice and Hector Lopez' single.

Jim Lemon's 31st home run ignited a four-run rally in the eighth that enabled Washington to snap a 1-1 tie and beat Jim Bunning. Hal Woodeshick posted his second victory in relief.

Roger Maris' two-run single with the bases loaded featured a five-run 10th inning, enabling the Athletics to snap a 4-4 tie in the opener with Baltimore. Bud Daley, after five straight failures, finally won his 16th for the A's, doling out six hits in the nightcap.

Landis, Duren 2 Others Hurt

By The Associated Press
Jim Landis, the Chicago White Sox fleet centerfielder, will be lost to the American League leaders indefinitely. But Manager Al Lopez, for one, is hoping that "indefinitely" doesn't mean for the remainder of the season and perhaps the World Series.

Landis, the man Lopez calls the key to the White Sox recent success, was one of four players injured Sunday. He was hospitalized with a ruptured blood vessel in his right leg after a 3-1 victory over Boston, coupled with two Cleveland defeats, had stretched Chicago's lead to 5½ games.

Other players injured were Ryne Duren, the Yankees' relief ace, Bill Tuttle, Kansas City outfielder, and Brooks Robinson, Baltimore third baseman.

Duren was literally knocked out of the box in the 11th inning of the first game with Cleveland when he was hit on the shin by a line drive off Tito Francona's bat. X-rays showed no break and he was able to walk out of a hospital unaided after being carried off the field. He is expected to be able to pitch again in about four days.

Tuttle is out the remainder of the season.

'Chocolate Kid' Wins Homing Club Race

W. Allison's "Chocolate Kid" led the field home in the East Liverpool Homing Club's 100-mile race Sunday from Newark.

The winning time was 2 hours, 45 minutes and 20 seconds. Pat Connor's "Silver Streak" was second in 2 hours, 46 minutes and 59 seconds. Connor's "Little Ducee" was third.

The next race will cover 200 miles from Xenia on Sunday.

Alex Still In Slump With Loss To Fraser

By Ed Corrigan
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Three months ago, Alex Olmedo was hoping to get a fat professional tennis contract out of Jack Kramer.

Today, he is hoping Kramer still is just a little interested.

Since he won the Wimbledon title in early summer, Alex has been drifting slowly downstream. He dropped both a singles and the doubles match two weeks ago when the Australians took back the Davis Cup.

Sunday Neale Fraser, his chief tormenter in the Davis Cup, licked him, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4 in the final of the National championship—giving the Aussies their fourth straight U.S. singles crown.

Asked if he would join the Kramer troupe if an offer were forthcoming, the 23-year-old lendelease Peruvian, replied: "Money can do a lot for a guy. It can change your mind."

The big question is whether Kramer still will be interested in Alex or will turn his attention to Fraser, at the moment the hottest thing in amateur tennis.

Weirton Tops Charleston In Opener, 14-6

By The Associated Press
A quarterback, who completed only four of nine passes, but all were for touchdowns, and a tackle who sprinted 30 yards for the lone score in Mullens 6-0 victory over Beckley were among the standouts in the state's first big weekend of high school football.

The quarterback was Tom Smith who directed Gary to a 26-6 decision over Oceana. Smith completed passes for touchdown plays which covered 31, 37, 50 and 67 yards.

The Mullens tackle was Dave Humphrey who grabbed a Beckley fumble and converted it into a six - pointed for his school's first victory over the Flying Eagles since 1941.

There were other individual standouts. Charleston soon will not forget 160-pound sophomore halfback Bob Kelley who sparked Weirton to a 14-6 victory over the mammoth Mountain Lions. Kelley returned a punt 65 yards for Weirton's second touchdown.

It took only a few minutes for Parkersburg halfback Larry Holman to reel from goal to hero in the Big Reds' 33-27 thriller over Elkins. Holman scored the winning touchdown with just 10 seconds to go on a 31-yard jaunt. Only a few minutes earlier, Holman fumbled a punt to set up Elkins' go-ahead touchdown.

Another Lewis — his name is Johnny — was in the lineup at tackle for Morgantown in its 20-6 victory over a massive Buchanan team. Johnny's brother, Cammie, was senior quarterback on the 1958 Morgantown team. Their father — Art — is coach at West Virginia University.

Up a short piece from Morgantown, halfback Elden McVicker, a converted end, scored three touchdowns to pace Mansontown Valley past Belington, 35-6. It was Valley's 12th straight victory in a skein that extends back to 1957. McVicker's scoring spurge brought his point total to 37 for two games.

Buzzy Harrison, a member of South Charleston's Class AAA state basketball titlists, used his ball - handling prowess to good purpose while playing quarterback for the Black Eagles. Harrison directed his team to a 32-19 victory, over DuPont in what could be classed as a mild upset.

Tests For College Entrance Will Be Conducted At Lisbon

LISBON — College Entrance examination Board tests for interested seniors and juniors in the county will be given at Lisbon High School for the first time, according to George M. Nace Jr., principal.

Lisbon High School was named last spring as a testing center for the county. Previously county students had to go to Youngstown or Canton, the two closest examination points.

Tests dates are Dec. 5, and March 12 and May 21, Supt. Nace said.

Two types of tests will be given — one for scholastic aptitude, which measures the student's intelligence. The others for achievements in specific fields — English, foreign languages, mathematics and others.

If the student wishes to take all the tests, the cost is $15. The scholastic aptitude test is $6.

A student must make application and pay the costs in advance with the College Entrance Examination Board, Box 392, Princeton, N. J. When accepted, he will receive an admittance card for the testing day.

With the number of college students growing each year, many colleges are requesting applicants to take the "College Boards" tests and they select their freshman enrollment largely on the test results. The student may request that his score be sent to three colleges of his choice. Neither the student nor his school receives notice of his score but only acceptance or rejection from the colleges of his choice.

Juniors taking the test have an advantage, Nace said. The principal may request their scores from the Board at Princeton. If the tests indicate weaknesses, the student will know what to work on in preparation for his test as a senior, Supt. Nace said.

Letters were sent to all the county schools with juniors and seniors advising that Lisbon is an examination point and he said up to 50 students can be handled on any of the three dates. The school does this as a service and there is no charge locally.

Cornell P. Monda, school psychologist, will be in charge of giving the tests, Supt. Nace said.

Beaver Local Money Sacks Found In Run

Sixteen checks but no cash were found in money bags stolen from the Beaver Local Public School Sept. 3 which were discovered in a dry creek bed near Berlin Reservoir by an Alliance fisherman Saturday.

The 2 large bags and 13 smaller ones at one time held $1,642 in cash removed from the large walk-in safe at the Route 7 school, which expert burglars hit two days after classes resumed.

John Vilcz of Alliance discovered the 15 bags, weighted down with rocks, in the creek bed close to Route 224. He notified Mahoning County authorities.

A total of $1,729 — including $87 in checks — was taken in the safe job. The money had been turned in from cafeteria funds, student textbook and insurance payments. The loss is insured.

The bags and contents were to be turned over by Mahoning County deputies to Columbiana County deputies for further investigation. The Board of Education has directed enforcement of a policy of banking all school funds overnight to avoid further burglary losses.

Program Material Available In Library's Film Assortment

Club members and others searching for good program material should try the new film service at the Carnegie Public Library, Miss Frances Jones, librarian said.

Sports, science, travel in foreign lands and famous fairy tales for small children indicate the variety of subjects always in stock.

Outstanding travel films include: "Alaska Holiday," a scenic vacationland; "Lifelines U.S.A.," adventure in the Merchant Marine, and "Men of Gloucester," a bit of New England atmosphere. Foreign lands are well represented with "People of Greece," "Nightmare In Red," "Life In a Swedish Fishing Village," "Chotu and His Jungle Elephant" and "English Children."

The mission study in most churches this year is Africa. The library is making a special effort to obtain films on the Dark Continent. During September, "Egypt and the Nile" and "Jeep Jungle Safari" can be booked. In October, a lively short subject on tribal ceremonies, wedding celebrations and the importance of drums in jungle life will be in stock. The title is "African Rhythms."

Those concerned with teaching safety to youngsters will find that the library has a permanent deposit of films on better driving.

These are 20-minute subjects titled as follows, "Impact," "Freedom of the American Road" and "Crash and Live." Closely allied to these is a study of teen-age drinking and driving called "None for the Road." This is a short, running only 10 minutes.

Our priceless American heritage can often be most dramatically told by means of a play. "Belonging to the Group" is a 16-minute study which shows the importance of respect in a democracy. "The Constitution of the United States" and "The Declaration of Independence by the Colonies" are others.

Child study groups and PTA officers will also find assistance in films. There is a 22-minute film in stock which introduces a family of three children. It shows how the parents handle jealousy, occasional dishonesty, destructiveness and varying interests. The title, "From Sociable-Six to Noisy-Nine."

The library will be loaning the films for 24-hour periods unless special arrangements are made. This can be done if the borrower lives more than 10 miles from town, or in the case of school intends to use a movie for several class groups. Most of the prints available are recent and they will be rechecked and wound after each showing. Borrowers are asked to report on the condition of the film, the attendance, and the number of times shown. There is a 25-cent handling charge for each film regardless of type.

Dutch philosopher Spinoza (1632-1677) said, "Minds are not conquered by arms, but by love and generosity."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.*

Child's Play Blamed For Fire In Mattress

City firemen were called to the home of C. N. Tarver, 2132 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., Sunday at 9:10 a. m. when a child playing with matches set fire to a mattress.

The blaze spread from the bed to a nearby window, where the curtains and frame burned, firemen said. A booster line was used to extinguish the fire.

Liverpool Township, East, volunteer firemen also responded to the call, as it was not known if the home was in the city limits.

Lloyd's of London has placed an insurance value of $700 on the thumb of each member of Cambridge University's "tiddly-winks" team.
